

The second Uprated Saturn I launch vehicle (designated AS-203) stands on the launch pad at Cape Kennedy. Blunt nosecone replaced the Apollo spacecraft for this special flight. This was a liquid hydrogen test to determine how liquid hydrogen reacted in space. Television cameras were in the top of the second stage's liquid hydrogen tank. The Saturn was developed at MSFC, Huntsville, Alabama.

SCENIC SOUTH CARD CO., BESSEMER, ALA. 35020

PLACE
STAMP
HERE

POST CARD

Address