

The Pershing Missile, Redstone Arsenal

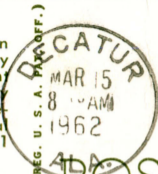

March 14, 1962

5-

THE PERSHING MISSILE, REDSTONE ARSENAL
HUNTSVILLE, ALABAMA

This Pershing surface to surface missile can deliver an atomic warhead deep into enemy territory. The Army missile is a solid propellant ballistic missile under development by the Army Ballistic Missile Agency to replace the old reliable Redstone. The missile is named for General of the Armies John J. Pershing, World War I hero.

OFFICIAL U. S. ARMY PHOTO

POST CARD

ANDERSON NEWS COMPANY, FLORENCE, ALA.

Dear Martha, We came to Decatur last evening and will leave for Dayton to-morrow morning. We hope to be home some time next week.
Love, Mabel

Mrs. W. J. Trenoble
New Bloomfield
Pa.

CURTICE COLOR 3-D NATURAL COLOR REPRODUCTION (REG. U. S. A. PAT. OFF.)