ing. If I haven't any valid excuse I should resort to my own imagination & on the wit of my neighbors for some plausible anecdote (fashionable synonym for lie) to tell my correspondent. In this case tho. Budd I am going to be honest & plead guilty. There is no reason why I shouldn't have shown you by a much earlier reply how much I enjoyed & appreciated your most interesting letters. I have intended writing to you for more than a month, but procrastination is my besetting sin, & to it alone I ascribe the tardiness. What with private theatricals, German shops, with card parties, lunches, dinners & horseback rides & parties intercolated, the winter has been less monotonous than I anticipated. We are entirely out of the world at Clark so have to depend upon ourselves alone for our few pleasures. We have no theatres nor operas, nor even 'nigger' minstrels except the amateur performances of the small boys of the post, for our diversion. We have not even a Murray's book store on the foundation stones of which to wear out the seats of our trousers, nor a post office to loiter around between mails, nor any church steps to amuse ourselves spitting tobacco juice upon on Sundays. We have a postmaster's store, but it is don't like the grocery store I was reared to love. It hasn't got a pavement or a cellar door in front of it, or chairs with two long legs & two short ones or candle boxes to coincide on. It has a billiard table inside & it doesn't cost any thing to play on it. But I detest billiards. It may be a scientific game, & maybe for that very reason I don't like it. It certainly affords me little amusement to throw myself down on a table, point my right foot in the air & stop myself out until my clothes almost come ~~on~~ uncomple & punch a stick at a ball. Besides I have an educated & insuperable aversion to post-graduate stores & hence my visits there are always brief & on business. We have an excellent post library, with all the ^{best} newspapers of this country & several foreign ones, all the best American & English periodicals, histories, novels, scientific works &c. in it. Every officer & soldier has free access to this. I have taken part in two little plays & enjoyed them a good deal. I had to play the part of the 'sponey' man in each. It was with much reluctance that I consented, for besides having a certain amount of youthful modesty which always turns red & rises in its dignity & strenuously opposes my appearing behind the foot lights even before a sympathetic au-dinner, I dislike above all other things to make love or pretend to make love, & ~~strong~~ embrace & kiss or rather embrace & pretend to kiss — in public. To have to kiss a woman's hand is still more objectionable for you have to do that in reality or the audience will detect the fraud. I would just as soon kiss any one's foot as to kiss ~~her~~ her hand, presuming that they both have been reduced to the same state of cleanliness. There is just as much sentiment in the one as in the other to me. And yet I had to do that too in these horrid little plays. I haven't much more sentiment in my make up than an unmarried mud turtle.

You have had some very cold weather, haven't you?
We have had some of the damndest winters any body ever saw. I have seen the mercury more than once fall from 70° to 12° in less than four hours.
There is a slight northern going now, & a fine feel, very comfortable. I had a cold gallop in a terrible northern after a disaster some night ago. I caught him about ten miles from the post. Please write to me again soon. You & Katie & probably one other are the only correspondents I have in Henry. I take The Mercury — Good-night. Kind regards to all
