Andrews' Portable Blackboard Stretcher.

For Lecturers and Sunday School Workers.
The Handiest Thing in the World!

This Stretcher consists of a light frame, upon which a pattern cloth of paper, slate, or blackboard is stretched like a drum-head when in use, so as to prevent the eraser from coming in contact with the frame.

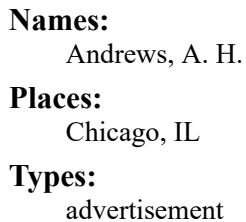

It is used on both sides, great for use in the home, in the classroom, church and parsonage, and as it takes very little of the surface and mending of the ordinary blackboard, adds nothing to the weight of the book.

Prices of Portable Blackboards with Stretcher.

The Andrews' Patent Triumph School Desk.

(Dovetailed and Steel Doweled.)

One Million Now in Use!

They received the highest awards at Philadelphia, in 1876, and at Paris, in 1878. They have eight patents, and yet are sold as low as any good desk in the market. Special descriptive circular sent on application.

Church Furniture and Hall Seating.

Various Styles of Chairs and Pulpits.

Pews with Curved Back and Curved Seats, Book Racks, Etc.

The New Improved Church and Assembly Seats.

A new departure in Church Seating. Handsome and comfortable. Upholstered, Perforated or plain. The coming style of seating for Churches.

Diagram of Circular Rows.

Why should not our Churches be as pleasantly arranged and as comfortably seated as the average Opera House or Theatre? But they are not. The cause is obvious. Often the last dollar has been expended on the building itself, before the quite as important questions of seating, form, acoustics, etc., have been considered. The result is often a decided failure.

The new seats are similar to the most comfortable Opera Chairs. Some of their advantages are as follows:

1. They are arranged and numbered as single sittings.
2. They have tilting backs and seats that raise, thus reducing space.
3. They have hat-rests, a great convenience for gentlemen; also, foot-rests.
4. They are much cooler than pews, and have a more graceful appearance.
5. They may be arranged in curves at no extra expense. See diagram, showing how sections are lettered and seats are numbered.
6. They can be upholstered in any style or shade, or may be perforated, or of plain wood.
7. Expense of cushions is avoided.

N.B.—We can furnish these chairs in styles which are plainer and more Ecclesiastical if desired.

The architect of the new Central Hall, Chicago,—Prof. Swing's Church,—where these chairs are used, says: "I consider your seats the best I have ever seen." We have many other commendations.

Church Mementos FOLDER 1

Settees for Small Churches and Lecture Rooms.

PULPIT
No. 154. With top to raise with ease.

Settee No. 157.

In answer to the large number of correspondents who enquire about Seating for Churches, we take this mode of replying in general terms.

For smaller Churches and Lecture Rooms, our Settee No. 157 is preferable to Pews, because—

1st.—The small church being usually without a Lecture Room, is used for many general purposes, and occasionally, when the ordinary, rigid, immovable pews would be decidedly in the way. A church seated with pews can scarcely be used to advantage more than one day in the week!

2d.—Our Settees are movable, and the seat folds up so that the space occupied is reduced to eight inches.

3d.—Support, now, a sociable is to be held, in many circumstances a necessity, and we may say also, a very proper thing to have in the church. No great amount of sociability or freedom can be indulged in with those Pews constantly in the way. But when Settees are used, these can be easily set on either side of the room in two rows, the seats being folded, leaving at least three-fourths of the whole floor free for social gatherings and unobtruded converse!

There are Churches and Chapels in Chicago seated in this way; the settees being much preferred to the old method of pews or common chairs.

4th.—Moreover, these settees are far more comfortable than pews, being constructed with curves of hand-finished hardwood slats, in alternate light and darker woods, exactly conforming to the form, and giving an elegant, comfortable and airy appearance to the room.

5th.—These settees are made very strong as well as comfortable, and have steel dowels through the slats of both seat and back between the cast iron supports, thus being supported every two or three feet of the entire length, and holding the slats true on the surface. The average or standard length of these settees is eight feet, though they can be furnished of any length up to 12 feet.

The Burr Patent Parlor Folding Beds.

The great invention for the Parlor,
Study or Library.

Fifteen styles, folding into Book-cases, Secretaries, etc. All the bedding with mattress folds out of sight. A comfortable spring mattress goes with each bed. The beds occupy only 22 inches depth when closed, and are single, three-quarters or double in width.

Price $22 and upwards.

Secretary Bed Open.

N. B.—These beds are rapidly taking the place of the conventional, sprawling, wide-spreading beds of our ancestors, always occupying more than three-times as much of the household space as they ought! These Folding Beds are usually of black walnut, though the cheaper styles are in hardwood, and imitation walnut or ebony. They are an elegant article of furniture and can be utilized during the day. Some are made with Writing Desk attachment as seen in cut. They are the most useful and sensible article to be thought of as a present to the minister! Send for special circular; or, please give us an enclosed card, names of those who would be specially interested in these Beds.

Secretary Bed Closed.
