266 FOLDER 9

Hendricks was described by NEA President Keith Geiger as one of "the rare business leaders who is also a social activist on behalf of America's students." Hendricks was nominated for the award by the Virginia Education Association "for innovations in education and technology and greatly expanding educational opportunity for America's schoolchildren."

Last year's winner of NEA's Friend of Education Award was author and lecturer Jonathan Kozol. Previous winners have included President Lyndon B. Johnson and Supreme Court Thurgood Marshall.

GENERAL INTEREST

Looking for Clark Gable and Other
20th-Century Pursuits

Collected Writings
Virginia Van der Veer Hamilton
With a Foreword by Wayne Flynt

Reared amid liberal intellectuals and writers in Birmingham, Alabama, during the Great Depression, the author anticipated that, like her Wellesley-educated mother, her destiny would be that of full-time wife and homemaker. Instead, World War II afforded her the opportunity to become a "girl reporter," a career hitherto closed to all but a few women. Her journalistic beat included not only Alabama but also Washington, D.C., the nation's nerve center. At war's end, instead of "retiring" as did most middle-class women, she continued her journalistic career and then successfully moved into another male fiefdom—the American professorate.

Hamilton, in commentary interspersed throughout this collection of her essays and news stories, reflects on the major changes that have taken place in her native South during the course of the 20th century: a rural region becoming urbanized, Democrats emerging openly as Republicans, legal segregation giving way to educational and political segregation, and the virtual disappearance of white southern liberalism.

Father insisted on traveling with at least six in the car (note 1930s form of air conditioning). Huey Long Bridge, New Orleans, 1935.

On a personal level, Hamilton notes social mores of the early and mid-20th century that have become seriously endangered or have vanished from the American scene: virginal brides, lifelong marriages, serious reading, daily newspapers, train travel, and family pilgrimages to historic sites.

Hamilton has written a delightful memoir of her life growing up during the Depression, coming of age during World War II, pursuing a career first as a journalist, then as a historian in a male-dominated world. The serious themes—the changing South from the New Deal liberalism of the 1930s to the conservatism of the present day and that of a middle-class white woman breaking into two traditionally male fields, journalism and history—are handled with humor and a light touch, making the book a delight to read; in fact, I could hardly put it down.—Mary Martha Thomas, Professor Emerita
Jacksonville State University

Virginia Van der Veer Hamilton is Professor of History Emerita from the University of Alabama at Birmingham.

Dear Dr. Roberts

We received your reservation blank and were thrilled to death that you will attend. We are looking forward to seeing you. We have worked real hard on addresses and details and are still planning on it. Our committee is composed of myself, R. B. Nichols, Bettie Easter Legg, Rachel Evans House, Edward House, Dot Cole Moore, Ruby Hill Greenhaw, and Oakley Greenhaw. We have met three times and spent countless hours on the phone. I started the ball rolling after hearing Mr. John Wilson say to please have one before anything happens to him. You know he had heart surgery. We were the last class he was with. He left Athens the year we graduated.

We have a list of possible attendees and I am forwarding a copy to you to look over and keep if you desire. Many people you won't ~~remember~~ remember, but don't worry, they probably transferred in from the county system after you left. I am sure there are many on the

Dear Dr. Roberts,

Attached is a check to assist on the gift for Steve Hettinger. I think he did the best job possible with the Council he had to work with. Maybe the writers of the Constitution overdid the "checks & balances" part a little bit, but probably it is for the best.

I appreciate your reminding Dana that I also helped a little on Constitution Hall Park. You & Sara Fisk did the most important work - having the idea of pushing it through for 7 years.

Thanks - Harvie

INTERVIEW SUGGESTIONS

*The questions below came to me as I was doing research for this program, but my knowledge of this period is very limited, so some of these questions may be ridiculous! Please don't hesitate to tell me if that is the case. I would also appreciate your suggestions.

*Please phrase your responses in complete sentences. My questions from the interview will not be included in the program.

*It will be OK to repeat certain points as you respond to different questions, but please do not refer to previous answers by saying something like "as I said before."

*Please avoid references to the current date/year or current events in your comments. This program may be rebroadcast or used in history classes years from now.

INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

Describe the early settlement of Huntsville and the involvement of John Hunt and Leroy Pope.

Was Huntsville's economic and social life representative of Alabama as a whole in 1818-1819?

How did the invention of the cotton gin in 1793 combined with the availability of land following the 1814 defeat of the Muskogee or Creek Indians influence settlement of Alabama?

Were there political, social or economic differences between settlers of north Alabama and settlers of south Alabama?

Did differences between north and south Alabama have any effect on the choice of a capitol?

Since Mobile was the first settlement in Alabama was it a great political factor during the territorial period and why was it not considered as a capitol?

Why was St. Stephens the original capitol of the Alabama territory and why was it abandoned?

Why did Huntsville become only a temporary capitol?

What is a constitution and why was it important for Alabama to establish one in 1819?

What were the requirements which Alabama had to meet to become a state and what are the advantages of being admitted to the union as a state as opposed to a territory?

FROM: Frances Roberts

In 1950 it would have been very difficult for me to send an individual thank-you to each of you for the wonderful time we enjoyed together during our 40th reunion, but thanks to a computer, this is now possible.

I also wish to express my appreciation for the gift certificate which will enable me to enjoy a meal with friends at Mr. Steak. One of the nice features of being retired is eating out often.

I look forward to being with you again on your 45th in 1995.

7-20-92

Dear Dr. Robert,

I could remember way back when you always encouraged me to do my best in school. I appreciate all the money you gave me for my year card. I was so excited when you bought my class ring. Everytime I looked at the ring I thought about graduating. I would love to thank you for one more thing that is a job at the Coca Cola Company. By the way I'm doing fine on the job. I would like to thank you one again. I haven't met nobody who was sweet and kind like Dr. Robert

Sincerely Yours
Tony Harris
