DELAYS IN LEGISLATION.—The Church can always affect to wait; for she is an episcopal body born with the morning and dying at nightfall, and therefore compelled to do in hot haste what she does at all. It is well for us, now we come into the world, and will exist long after we are gone from it. And what individual, so he governs of men, will be nearly so much relaxed as they foolishly imagine. Failure, therefore, at a given moment to do what may have seemed useful, does not mean that nothing can or will ever be done. While in a country which relies so much as this does from over-legislation, there is some incidental cause for congratulation is almost any such failure.—HENRY WILLIAMS, of Connecticut, Connecticut Address, 1878.

IN MEMORIAM.*

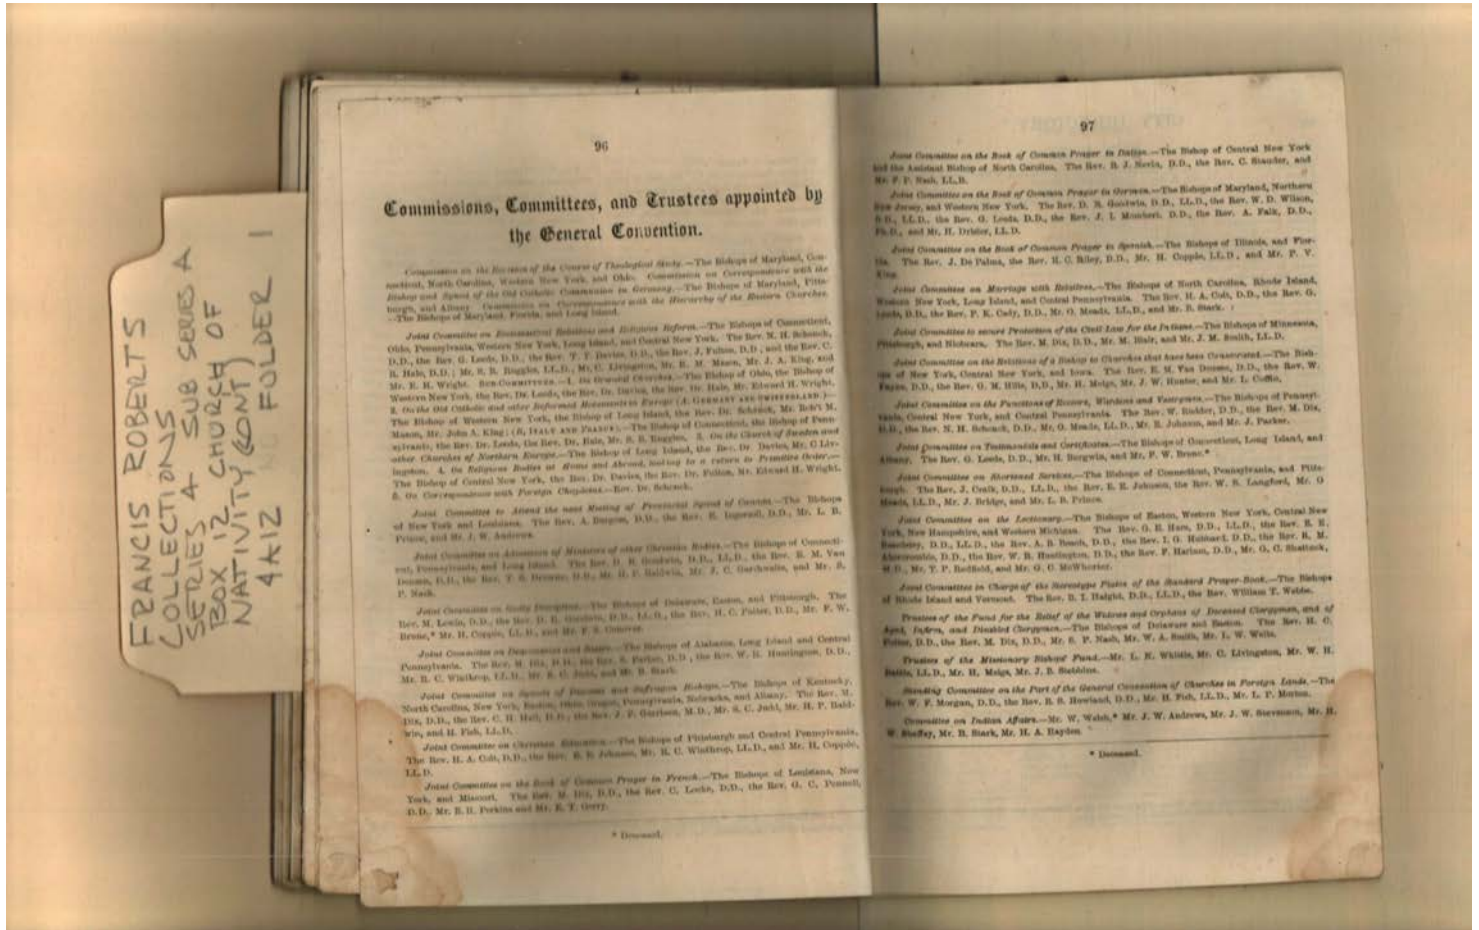

There are thy messengers, O Lord,
 Immortal Christ, Thine own are they,
 Who feel Thy little ones in need,
 Who led and lead, who watch and pray!

Oh, then, Father, lead, in every way
 Who love themselves in such a love,
 And feel this day a holy step
 Unto the better life above!

Whom Jesus is only where God calls,
 Whom just to where His love appoints;
 Whose will of heart is soon
 Upon the brow His grace appoints.

There are Thy children, tried and true,
 His mercy-army noble, true;
 They that have borne His Cross and laid
 Themselves upon it unto rest!

* From lines by A. K. G., "dedicated to the recently departed and the others fallen at Memphis," and published in The Cherokees, Oct. 19, 1878.

Miss MARY R. CROSSY,	Mrs. RUSSELL SAGE,	Mrs. C. R. FOSDICK,

The object of the "House of Rest" is to provide a home for such Consumptives (and the other form of disease being treated) as are refused admission to other hospitals, owing to the advanced stage of their disease. Competent medical attendance and careful nursing are given them, until it pleases God to end their sufferings. In many cases the patients, fortified by good food and proper medicines, leave the house cured, improved, and able even to resume work.

Very few applicants are able to contribute anything toward their own support; and so no one is refused admission on account of inability to meet this requirement, nearly all the beds, forty in number, are occupied by charity patients.

Having no endowment, the Trustees look to the sympathy of the public to sustain the Institution.

The Institution is entirely unsectarian, receiving all denominations. The religious services are held according to the form of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Weekly services are held every Wednesday at 2:30 P.M., and all friends of the Institution, as well as others who may be desirous of so doing, are cordially invited to attend.

Applications for admission should be made to ROBERT WATTS, M.D., 49 West 86th Street, before 10 A.M.
