Qualifications for Voters

Types:

political

Frances Cabaniss Roberts Collection: Series 4, Subseries A, Box 2, Folder 5
City Government Records and Notes (mostly undated), 1955

Image 42 r04a02-05-000-0175 Contents Index About

The state sets qualifications for voting subject to limitations of the 14th, 15th and 19th amendments, namely:

- . Fourteenth Amendment: "No state shall make a law which shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction equal protection of the laws."
- . Fifteenth Amendment: "No state shall deny any citizen the right to vote on account of his race or color."
- . Nineteenth Amendment: "No state shall deny any citizen the right to vote on account of sex."

Requirements set by Alabama as a qualification for voting are:

- . A person must be 21 years of age
- . Native born or naturalized United States Citizen
- . Resident of Alabama for one year
- . Resident of the county in which he wishes to vote for six months
- . Resident of the precinct (in rural areas) or ward (in cities) in which he wishes to vote for three months
- . Must be able to read and write
- . Must not have been convicted of a disqualifying offense as listed in the Constitution of Alabama.
- . Must not have been declared insane by inquisition of lunacy
- . Must appear before the board of registrars in the county he/she wishes to vote and present evidence that he meets all of the above qualifications (including a questionnaire to test literacy and an oath of loyalty to the United States and the state of Alabama).

2.4.2 CHALLENGED VOTERS

Any voter or poll watcher may challenge a voter's qualifications to vote at any polling place. The challenged voter must then sign an oath of eligibility. The challenged vote is counted unless the election is contested, in which case the Circuit Court or the party county or state executive committee in the case of a primary decides whether the vote is valid or not. Election officials are required to give a copy of all eligibility oaths to the District Attorney who must report on each one to the next grand jury. A false statement on the eligibility oath is punishable by one to five years in prison for perjury.
