Miss. Terr. Paper
re: Return J. Meigs Southern
AC3

14.

19th, Rain: Ordered proceed with greatest expedition to Chandiere river. 20th, Rainy all day: 22nd, Continued our route up the river about three miles, passing two portages. Our whole course this day only three miles, owing to the extraordinary rise of the river the last night: In some parts of the river the water rose eight feet perpendicular and in many places overflowed and filled the country with water, which made it very difficult for our own men that were on shore to march. Oct. 23rd, Encamped this evening at a carrying place: Here a council was held, in which it was resolved that a Captain, with 50 men, should march with all dispatch by land to Chandiere pond, and that the sick, of my division and Captain Morgan's, should return back to Cambridge. At this place the stream was very rapid, in passing which five or six battoes filled and overset, by which we lost several barrels of provisions, a number of guns, some clothes and cash.

24th, Proceeded up the river, though with great fatigue: This day wrote to Mrs. Meigs by the officer that returned with the sick. Oct. 27th, This carrying place of four miles and sixty perches lies across the height of land (this high land runs through the colonies to Georgia). Encamped on the height of land, where the streams all run the reverse of the rivers we came up in. Oct. 28th, In the morning, crossed the heights to Chandiere river: 29th, Continued our march by land towards Quebec. Nov. 1, Continued our march through the woods--the marching this day exceedingly bad.
