COLORFUL HISTORY DATES BACK OVER 137 YEARS

America won independence, set up housekeeping on her own, and architecture flowered most impressively in Dixie. One of the South's finest homes—fully expressing the romance and lavish hospitality of this bygone era—stands today . . . proud . . . beautiful . . . full of nostalgic charm.

The brilliant architect, George Steel, son of the war hero who fought under Washington, executed this design embodying the purest form of Colonial Architecture. Finished in 1819, it has great historic consequence—not only for its age—but for its awe-inspiring beauty and the imprint of its notable owners.

H. C. Bradford, the first owner, mortgaged the home and lost it to John Brahan. In 1824, the latter owner sold it to John McKinley, a Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court. Bartley Lewis and Martha Betts were successive owners. Then in 1845, the deeds show ownership was bestowed on Dr. William Weeden, whose descendants own it today. Only when Major General O. M. Mitchell commandeered it for use as Federal Headquarters in 1862 has occupancy by the Weeden family been broken.

HOME OF ALABAMA'S BELOVED POET-ARTIST—HOWARD WEEDEN

Here, Alabama's famed poet-painter lived and died. This gentleman, in poems and sketches, gave the world a sensitive and sympathetic portrayal of the character and dignity of old-time Negroes that has never been equalled. Only Margaret Mitchell's "Gone with the Wind," made a greater impact on the nation than did the publication of her illustrated volumes: Shadows on the Wall, Bandana Ballads, Songs of The South and Old Voices.

Joel Chandler Harris wrote in the foreword of one book: ". . . I thank heaven for the beautiful genius that has matched from the past and presented the handful of memories preserved in this book." Critics the nation over were lavish with praise. Said the New York Times: ". . . This is genius." One edition after another was brought out.

Howard Weeden lived all her life in this delightful home, finding her subjects among her servants and the servants of neighbors. She brought distinction to its portals, and this is why people will always point with pride and say: "That is the Howard Weeden home."

Special Notice

HOWARD WEEDEN HOME shown by appointment only from Aug. 2 to
Aug. 7, 1 P.M. to 5 P.M.
Open House on August 8th from 1 P. M.

EXCITING NEWS FOR ART LOVERS!

A large collection of Miss Weeden's paintings which won such wide critical acclaim still hang in the home. The South's foremost collectors now cherish the other paintings by one of the South's most talented daughters. A limited number owned by Mrs. Bibb will be sold. This news has important meaning to those who would like to enrich their collection with originals of merit and value.

ATTENTION BOOK LOVERS: Beautiful volumes of the classics and scores of books by contemporary authors, Letters of Sidney Lanier, works of Shakespeare, Johnson's Narratives to mention a few. Set of encyclopedias going for what they bring!

FABULOUS COLLECTION OF TREASURES History-Hallowed Items Await

KNOWN THE NATION OVER — DETAILED DESIGNS PRESERVED IN THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

Few homes anywhere have received such wide and universal acclaim. Students of Colonial Architecture, those who appreciate fine antiques, lovers of art and historians have found it a veritable treasure house of interest. Thousands have read of its peerless beauty and colorful past in stories and articles. The Advisory Committee of the Historic American Buildings Survey selected the Howard Weeden Home as one possessing exceptional historical and architectural interest, worthy of careful preservation for the benefit of future generations, and to this end, a detailed record of its appearance was made and deposited for permanent reference in the Library of Congress. Now, you can own this architectural gem, and remember, the years will enhance its value.

Its Sound Sturdiness Today is a Tribute to Craftsmen of Yesteryear

Gates and Green Streets . . . named for two Revolutionary War Generals. The corner of these streets was the site chosen for this magnificent show place. Slaves made bricks right on the premises to go into the exterior and interior walls which are 13 inches thick and form eleven delightful rooms. The original wide poplar floors are about as sound as when the trees were felled. Even the twenty-four windows with outside blinds contain many of the original panes. Great pines were bestowed on every detail. First, the classic columned porch will impress you. Then there's the double door entrance with a fanlight of masterful design overhead. Step inside the entrance hall. The circular staircase, winding totally unsupported to the second floor, is awe-inspiring. It is architecturally perfect—unmistakably the South's prize stairway. Six hand-carved Adam Mantels and hand-carved hoodboard trim with a herringbone design are harmoniously combined to create indescribable beauty.

Thousands Spent on Modernization; Every Feature for Gracious Living

Mr. and Mrs. Bibb, aware that they possessed one of the South's rarest architectural gems, recently set out to increase both its tangible and intrinsic value with a modernization program. Special care was used to preserve the original grace, beauty and spirit of the home. For example, the ancient fireplaces were kept intact, yet modern conduit wiring was installed throughout and recessed electric heaters (each on separate fuse) makes it easy to keep every room cozy. Steel plumbing was installed, a new lifetime roof was added along with other features. Now no home anywhere provides more completely for modern living. Its choice and convenient location, its charm and character, means it offers unlimited possibilities to the new owner. A few suggestions are given on the back page of this brochure. Mr. Bibb is now in business in another state and Mrs. Bibb will join him. This is why you can be the new owner.

ASSURED HEIRLOOMS . . . 11 ROOMS OF RARE, BEAUTIFUL ANTIQUES . . .
and Not One Piece Has Ever Been Available to Antique Lovers Before

There are treasures manifold at the Howard Weeden home, where the charm and culture of ante-bellum days achieved its highest expression. Fine and exquisite pieces that were family heirlooms when the Weeden family moved here well over a century ago remain to this day. These, and original furnishings of succeeding generations, are going at the price you set. Here are pieces with subtle grace unmatched by those turned out in batches by soulless corporations. Check the patina! You'll find color and mellowness of surface that only age could impart. Never before at any price could you own even one of these romantic remnants of a colorful age. Now every lovely item and the home are going. Never will you have an opportunity to choose from such a treasure trove of antiques. It's the most fabulous sale of the Century.

Lavish Red Room Furnishings

Beautiful pieces with appeal for those with fine sensibilities—subtle grace of line and proportion in which the old craftsmen excelled. You can now own the massive 18th Century Mahogany Secretary with a top drawer which opens out into a desk. It's flawless as are the Mahogany drop leaf table, the tilttop bedside candle stand, and the beautiful Victorian Sofas. There's a heavy gold leaf mirror thousands have admired, an exquisite oak table, a handsome brass clock, corner wall brackets and a Chandelier that is a model of symmetry and beauty. The luxurious velvet drapes are going. All wood, mahogany rug cost $1,000 recently.

Dining Room Masterpieces

Great pains were bestowed on the smallest details of these hand carved pieces. The solid mahogany corner cupboard is an heirloom handed down for many generations. There's beauty integral with every line of the mahogany sideboard. Lovely gilded oval mirror goes, 2 exquisite Empire chairs with lyre backs, and an ornate coal hod are yours to choose from. Here are pieces that reflect the lavish hospitality of ante-bellum days . . . here are pieces of timeless beauty. Ideal mahogany dining table that was handmade along with 6 cane bottom chairs of graceful country a 180 years old will be sold. Never before such an opportunity.

Timeless Beauty in Yellow Room

Here's the handwork of sensitive European craftsmen who worked with a proper pride while patiently hand carving this matching mahogany set, Alabama's illustrious Gov. Patton of reconstruction days imported this entire, sent wagons to the coast and brought it to grace his home in Florence. Double wardrobe, the marble top dresser and table are shown above. Not shown is the bed with the Lion's head carved to stand out in bold relief, the matching "His" and "Her" chairs, the clock and many other treasured objects of art. All these pieces and hundreds of others are going August 9th! If you love antiques, you'll want to be at this sale of sales.

Never Before Such a Treasure Trove of Fine Antiques!

The South's prize suspension stairway—unsupported in any way and acclaimed by architects for its architectural perfection. Carpet for floor and stairways cost $1,000. Mahogany hat and umbrella stand with beautiful concentric design at top goes.

A sensitive slave put his heart and soul into the creation of this bed that retains its original splendor. Hand carved for Governor Patton's bride. Marble top tables, Mahogany chest, dresser, wash stand and arched chairs in Blue Room with the bed upstairs.

Never Before Such a Grand Collection of Items so Good!

Throughout the South, we've conducted sales of cherished antiques, but never before have we had the honor of offering so many items so good as you'll find in Alabama's Howard Weeden Home. There are literally hundreds of items we can't list, but they will be numbered and itemized by sale day. Choose from beautiful imported china and crystal with exquisite pineapple and left designs. You'll find all kinds of book cases, trivets, marble top tables, chairs, chandeliers, clocks, and a wide array of bric-a-brac and treasured art objects. It's the antique sale of sales. If you appreciate beauty . . . if history fascinates you . . . come to Huntsville! Everything to make an antique lover's heart beat faster!

LOCATION YOU COULD NEVER DUPLICATE IN BOOMING TOWN

90' x 150' LOT 2 BLOCKS OF DOWNTOWN
Agriculturally and industrially, Huntsville is booming, and the future looks bright indeed. Here, at Redstone Arsenal which sprawls over 40,000 acres, over 3,000 physicists, chemists and electronics engineers have moved in to help develop America's rockets and guided missiles program. Attracted by cheap TVA power, over a dozen new industries, making everything from stockings to stoves, help keep payrolls skyrocketing. Few cities anywhere are growing faster. Advance and progress are apparent in every direction. This is why this property, located only 2 blocks of the city square, is so highly desirable. Its worth in a few years is incalculable. Now, make it yours where you set the price!

INCOMPARABLE ATMOSPHERE FOR A NEEDED, EXCLUSIVE RESTAURANT

The spot that would give a new dimension in elegance . . . the atmosphere it takes to create an exclusive place to dine. Hundreds of business and professional people in growing, booming Huntsville would be quick to support such an enterprise. Cater to private parties, tourists and townspeople — build a reputation that would make you a fortune. Plenty of parking space.

PROVIDES COMPLETELY FOR MODERN LIVING

This famous home, sound and in a good state of repair, offers every convenience, and is a perfect close-in haven for full, free family life. Downstairs, there's a sensible floor plan: Kitchen, playroom with 1/2 bath, sun room, dining room, living room and bedroom with adjoining modern bath. A cellar, the size of the dining room, is never damp and has an outside entrance. There is a double garage and servant's bath. Upstairs, there's 4 bedrooms, a bath and a kitchen. The kitchen is wonderfully streamlined with a big attic fan, Bendix washing machine and drier, GE range, dishwasher, 6' refrigerator and sink. Upstairs, there's also some contemporary furniture that is good, but of course, is not comparable with the antiques.

Many have wanted to rent this home. It is readily adaptable for apartments if you choose, and you will realize good interest on your money, and all the time, the property's value will be going up. It's going at absolute auction, so be on hand if you're alert to opportunity.

DRESS SALON:

The booming North Alabama Trading Area means an exclusive Dress Shop is in demand. Here's the ideal location and layout for luncheons and fashion shows. Plenty of room downstairs for display and space upstairs to store your stock. The spiraling stairway would provide the perfect backdrop for models.

COUNTLESS OTHER USES:

Location for any one of a hundred enterprises: Offices for professional people, a doctor's clinic, an insurance office, sales agency or retail outlet.

MEETS EVERY TEST OF A PRIVATE CLUB.

Remember, the value will rise as the years go by. Make this Jewel of History yours.

Gentlemen:

I have found a booklet entitled
"The Master of the Sheepfold" Poem by Miss
One bean, illustrated by Miss Howard Weeden.
The first illustration is one of a grey haired & bearded colored person & written underneath in what I think is referred to as script is "Dey's some dey's black & thin."

The poem reads as though it is written & not printed or reproduced.

A friend who formerly lived at Huntsville suggested I write you of this find & tells me you collect works of Miss Howard Weeden.
If you are interested, I would be glad to send this to you for an appraisal &
if some satisfactory agreement could be reached would consider disposing of it.

Yours very truly books: Shadows on the Wall (1898), Bandanna Ballads (1899), Songs of the Old South (1901), and Old Voices (1904). Joel Chandler Harris wrote in the introduction to Bandanna Ballads, "The art with which the facts are set forth is so felicitous in its touch, so faithful and so informing, that it goes deeper than character and individuality; it revives and resurrects the period; in some myterious way, it restores the atmosphere and color of the time. And each portrait stands out a little masterpiece, harmonious, powerful, charged with feeling, and illuminated by the imagination that makes its creations more real than life itself." Howard was acclaimed by newspapers in Alabama, Tennessee, and Georgia. Her new-found fame came at a time of failing health, and she died on April 12, 1905. Her obituary was carried in the New York Times on April 13.

Howard Weeden, using her largely self-taught talents with brush and pen, made a unique contribution to an era in the history of the south, with faithfulness to fact and with respect and dignity to the individuals recorded.
