Hts. - Twickenham Dist (F11)
4D8 Weeden House

The Weeden House Committee is directly responsible to the Twickenham Historic Preservation District Association for the development and operation of the Museum. This Committee meets each Tuesday at noon and at this time will review with you the weekly activities and will assist you in any way in your coordination of the ongoing projects.

We are looking forward to having you work with the Association and the Committee in our effort to present an authentic nineteenth century house museum as well as promote the family life, art and poetry of Howard Weeden.

Sincerely yours,

Twickenham Historic Preservation
District Association

2

DEACCESSION: an object that has been removed permanently from the collection usually through sale or exchange; or the process of removing an object permanently from the collection.

DECLARATION OF GIFT: a contract that transfers ownership of an OBJECT or objects from a donor to a museum. It should include all conditions of the gift.

EXTENDED LOAN: an OBJECT loaned to a museum for long-term, sometimes indefinite, use. In terms of record keeping, extended loans are sometimes treated as a part of the PERMANENT COLLECTION.

INCOMING LOAN: an OBJECT borrowed by an institution. It is an incoming loan from the perspective of the borrowing institution; such a loan would of course be an OUTGOING LOAN to the lending institution.

INSURANCE VALUE: for insurance purposes, the estimated replacement cost, or the fair market value, of an OBJECT, usually established by the owner of the object and accepted by the insurer.

LOAN AGREEMENT: a contract between a lender and a borrower of an OBJECT or objects, specifying the object(s) and outlining the conditions of loan and the respective responsibilities of each party.

LOAN NUMBER: a control number, unique to an OBJECT, whose purpose is identification. It is part of the numbering system encompassing the objects on loan to a museum.

LOCATION FILE: a file or portion of a file noting the exact and current location of all objects in the collection, usually of the PERMANENT COLLECTION but sometimes of loan objects, too.

OBJECT: an artifact, publication, archival material, work of art, or some other material in a museum collection, or deemed worthy of study by or loan to a museum. For this museum, this term is sort or a generic word to describe anything in the museum collection.

OUTGOING LOAN: an OBJECT loaned by a museum to another institution. It is an outgoing loan from the perspective of the lending institution; such a loan would of course be an INCOMING LOAN to the borrowing institution.

PARTIAL GIFT: a donation of an OBJECT or collection of objects to which the museum does not receive full title. Partial gifts are of two kinds. A fractional interest gift is one in which the museum is given a present fraction interest and donor retains the remaining fractional interest. In these cases the museum is entitled to possession of the OBJECT for that portion of each calendar year equal to its fractional interest in the property. A remainder gift is one in which the museum is given a remainder interest and donor retains a life (or term) interest.

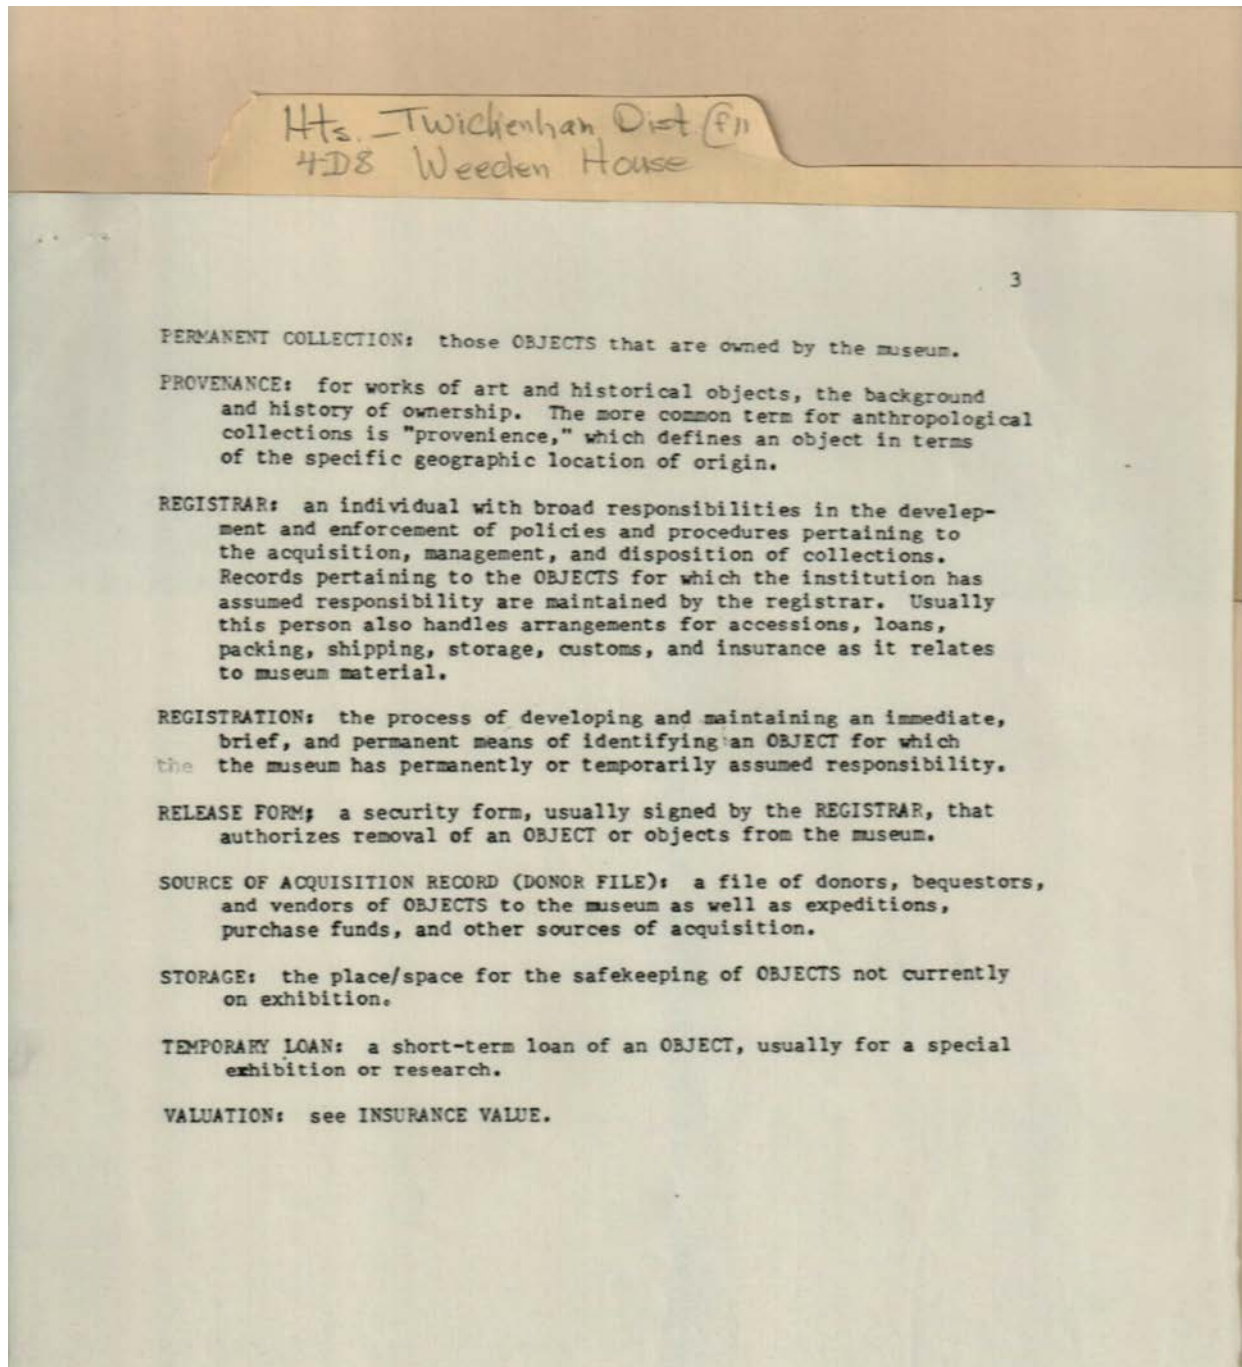

PERMANENT ACCESSION: an OBJECT acquired by a museum as part of its PERMANENT COLLECTION.

The shy, gentle, frail woman that had dreamed of traveling to exciting places and meeting interesting people of art and literature did not achieve that dream. But she did become famous, both in the United States and Europe where her paintings were displayed in Berlin and known in Paris³, to the outer limits of her dreams and with her death on April 12, 1905, a touch of the Old South went with her.

1819 Weeden House

Page Two

This house is, insofar as we know, Huntsville's most elaborate and most intact example of Federal Period architecture. It would be the only House Museum open to the public in the historic districts, and one of the very few Federal Period museums in the state. Any proposed use which significantly compromises its architectural integrity, or limits its access to tourists, would not in the best interests of either tourism or of historic preservation. The house is only 4 blocks from the VBCC, one block from Constitution Hall Park, and is at the entry to the Twickenham Historic District. The Tourist and Convention Bureau has found that Huntsville's historic architecture is one of our strongest attractions. We feel that it would be in Huntsville's best interests to have this fine Federal house kept intact and available for visitors to see as it existed in Huntsville's early years.

Respectfully,
