TN Valley Quarterly P10 TVGS
4DG 4:4 1970

A. Dr. Roberts is custodian of these Roby records and has a responsibility to Diane Roby to see that they are published.

B. Dr. Roberts is amenable to do whatever we want to do. Following statements were offered by her:

1. Dr. John Rison Jones, Jr., can assume responsibility of this project and have the records published as he described (by Deaton).
2. If TVGS decides to turn the records back to her, she will negotiate with another organization to undertake the project.
3. Action should be taken to determine what can be done.

III. On this date, Jeanne Henry called Dr. Jones and read paragraphs I and II to him. He concurs in content but wanted to include the area of problems as encountered in this compilation:

A. When Diane Roby established a methodology, she moved (copied) from north to south throughout the cemetery sections. Her notebooks include such material. Upon completing the work, Ms. Roby then alphabetized her note cards by section. In both instances, there is no recognition of plot lines. Dorothy Scott Johnson (see her acceptance of typing responsibility) decided that the notebooks should be used rather than the alphabetized cards because that placed individual tombs next to adjacent interments and, therefore, would be of greater interest, in her opinion, to genealogists.

B. In establishing a major index, any citations would indicate section location; material on the file cards indicate row and number within the section.

C. The problem is that there are two methodologies at conflict with each other.

D. The 100 typed pages included only the first nine sections of the oldest area of the cemetery.

IV. Dr. Jones recommended that the executive board bring the issue off the table at meeting 17 September and wait until the next board meeting, 12 November, to develop a recommendation to present at the general meeting. He will be glad to discuss this with the executive board at the November meeting.
