Printer's estimate for publication of Papers of North Alabama Historical Association, secured from Florence Herald, Florence, Alabama.

Cover and 16 pages of text on slick paper---500 copies-----$145.00 (est)

(Add $5.50 (est) for each half-page cut). The cost of mailing out the publication will be an additional expense to consider. The printer assures me that it is just as economical to use a glossy paper as a regular book paper. Additional pages of text will add to the cost roughly in proportion. Additional copies above 500 will increase the total cost somewhat as additional paper is needed, but the greatest charge is for the initial set-up.

PS N Ala Hist. Assoc.

In preparing this first volume of the Papers of the North Alabama Historical Association the publications committee of the association has felt that its work has been experimental. We, therefore, solicit suggestions or criticisms from the members of the organization looking toward the improvement of our publication. We believe that it may be helpful to the members to have a statement of our editorial policies as we have tentatively formulated them.

We welcome for editorial consideration scholarly articles on any phase of North Alabama history. We especially welcome brief feature articles on historic homes, churches and schools (academies and seminaries) of the region, and accounts of historic personalities of our area. It is hoped that these papers may be accompanied by photographs or portraits of the subjects treated.

We want to emphasize our firm conviction that information embraced in these articles should be soundly based on documents or reliable secondary accounts. It shall be our policy to avoid legends and stories-however interesting-which cannot be supported by documentary evidence.

Perhaps the bulk of our publication should consist of hitherto unpublished documents relating to the history of our region. These documents may be concerned with political, business, religious, or educational matters. They may be letters, diaries, county records, country store records, maps, etc. The members of the association can render a very important service by sending such documents or accurate copies of them to the editor.

In addition to the above, we may print news and notices, proceedings of our association meetings, and a roster of our members.

In summary, our long-range editorial policies are designed to bring into print accurate historical information-political, economic, and social-about the Tennessee Valley for the interest of our members and for the use of historians.
