6. Representation in Existing Surveys: _____

7. Description: Single, two log house with frame addition of larger room. Two excellent stone chimneys - in good condition as early construction was carefully done and house has been well cared for. Style of construction shows it to be of earliest pioneer type in the area. Best example of early building of this culture in this county in original setting.

8. Historical Significance

A. Period: mid 19th Century

B. Specific Dates: First grant to Matthew Culbert April 19, 1844 2nd grant August 11, 1848, 3rd grant December 1, 1847, see also Section 75 - 120 acres. He purchased other acres. On October 10, 1879, division was made of property of Matthew Culbert, dad, 1024 acres. James Culbert son, got home place & it descended to his grandson, Joe D. Culbert.

8. Historical Significance (continued)

C. Areas of Significance: The cabin is now on verge of late quarters, in an area being rapidly developed, and which has been the home since its first settlement in 1842. The TVA is planning a power plant in the immediate vicinity in near future.

D. Statement of Significance: This cabin should be preserved as a memorial to early pioneer days of the county. Matthew Culbert, had three grand-children, and brought over through a large family; and these descendants have likewise prospered and established themselves over the county.

6. Representation in Existing Surveys: _____

7. Description: A modest two-story house of board-and-batten construction, but exterior is now covered with asbestos shingles. There is a large recessed in the back, with windows, used originally as kitchen and dining room. Construction some years before the Civil War, the style is consistent with mid 19th Century (slight). There is a square central porch, and the rooms are large, with low ceilings. The front has a small gable inset, with window over the steps. The woodwork is simple, with plain large doors. It has been well-preserved.

8. Historical Significance

A. Period: Mid 19th Century

B. Specific Dates: The home is believed to have been built before October 6, 1856, when Montgomery Gilbreath bought the property. Some members of family insist he built it, but no proofs remaining this. The home passed thru inheritance to Kate Wigg, daughter, in 1885 - and finally to Mrs. Arvia in 1946.

C. Areas of Significance: The house is situated on a large lot in the oldest neighborhood in town, with a residential street through in behind (see). Blount Street was first and most important residential area, and other old houses are nearby.

D. Statement of Significance: When Tusculum was wantonly burned by Federal forces in January, 1865, this was one of two houses left unharmed, and one of the few buildings to survive the holocaust. Montgomery Gilbreath, born 1/23/1814, in what later became Marshall County, was long a prominent citizen. He was a merchant, with the rank of Major Judge. He organized a company in the C.S.A. as its Captain. Fought at Shiloh & was promoted to Lt. Colonel. (see) elected to the Constitutional Convention in 1870 and took an active and consistent part in County and town affairs.
The highest home that has been pointed out as a survivor of the Civil War, and is, indeed, the oldest home in town.
Mr. Gilbreath was a large, land owner, an affluent merchant, and highly respected.

6. Representation in Existing Surveys: In Tarlog Survey -

7. Description: a well-preserved of a private residence of the latter 19th century. Built of brick with brick foundations, it had two stories with lower front porch, original railings, a gable balcony over front door - side rooms. It is a successful mixture of several current influences from "Roundtop to Colonial" and has been recommended for preservation in its unmodified form. The interior woodwork, doorway, mantels and windows are as originally built - It is one of two existing houses with fine lightning rods still in place.

8. Historical Significance

A. Period: Late 19th Century -

B. Specific Dates: The house was built in the fall of 1899 and deed made to property sale to Dr. Lusk on January 5, 1900. The house was sold to R. H. Williams June 3, 1923 and by him sold to Dr. W. R. Huckaby January 25, 1932. It was owned by the latter until his death in 1971 -

C. Areas of Significance: Situated in one of the oldest residential areas, it is now in business zone, tho still in residential neighborhood. - A large and handsome church, has recently been erected on opposite corner of Brown Street and Gravel Avenue.

D. Statement of Significance: The builder of this home was a member of a pioneer family and city family and a prominent and highly regarded physician until his death in 1956 his family continues to occupy an important place in the community. - Dr. W. R. Huckaby was also a pioneer family descendant moving here from Brindley Mountain in 1930 - and was a well-known physician until his death in 1971. The home was inherited by his grand-nephew.

6. Representation in Existing Surveys: _____

7. Description: *a house of wood, painted white, two-storied. Has considerable dignity and restraint. General configuration shows influence of early French houses of Louisiana Bayou country - porch upon entry and ledges front (are lighted) by a row of tall, dark wood. - Has been little modified from original at present - large rooms on either side of central hallway.
Lot is 140 x 116 feet; many large old oak trees -*

8. Historical Significance

A. Period: Turn of the century -

B. Specific Dates: The lot was purchased 11 October, 1897 and the house was completed in 1900 - It is owned by Mrs. Snellgrove's daughter, who purchased it in 1954. He was born in 1869 and died in 1948

B. Historical Significance (continued)

C. Areas of Significance: Located on a main street in heart of town, in all residential area.

D. Statement of Significance: Mr. Snellgrove came to the area about 1890 and prospered as a citizen of a small but growing community. He acquired a substantial amount of laboring hands, and was both a power in hands and a drug-take-man.
The house is the oldest one in town and is an excellent example of the first style entered by those who established this little city at the turn of the century.

7. Old Church of Masonic Hall
Probably latter 19th Cent. or early 20th. Simple 2-story rectangular chapel w/ attached bell-tower/entry at one corner in the manner of a Gothic Revival church. ~~Decorative~~ ~~trim at entry~~ Parsonage.
8. House - photo vs. 3/31/74 Map No. 15 B
Thought to be of the century center-hall ^{or stem} chapel w/ truncated front gable in the manner of some medieval European of ~~the~~ 18th cent. American houses. Porch is makeshift. Well on back porch. Could be an early or mid 19th cent. based on design.
9. Gilbreath House - Basic design is a simplified version of designs published by Andrew Jackson Downing & others in the 1850's (see fig. 133 in "The Architecture of Country Houses" - Downing). Would be attractive with its original vertical board-f-batten siding. House is said to be ~~late~~ mid-19th century, if the design would seem to confirm this.
10. Dr. P.B. Lusk Res. - 1899
Well-preserved turn-of-the-century example showing a successful mixture of several ^{contemporary} stylistic influences from "Romantic" to "Colonial". Should be preserved in its unmodified form.
11. A.G. Henry Jr. Res. - circa 1890
Good late Victorian example with working plan & profile. Large porch decorated with spindle-work. Tower room.
12. Jordan Res - 1878
Unusually simple for the period - a contemporary version of a center-hall two-story Federal design, with the ^{large} porch somewhat more in the period of construction (if original). This would have been considered a "traditional" rather than a "modern" house when built in 1878.
