

Names:

Matthews-Rowe Home

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

photographs

Image 2 r07 05-00-008-0002

Contents

Index About

Names:

Matthews-Rowe Home

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

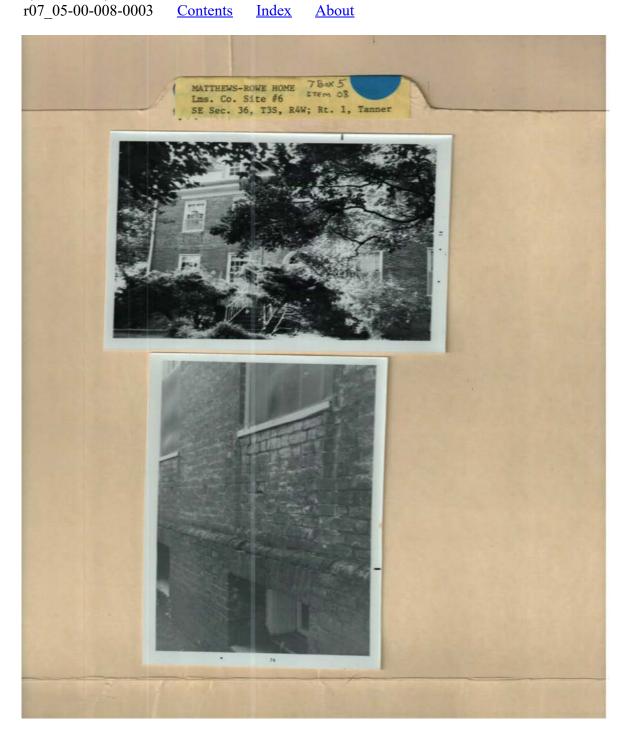

Types:

photographs

Frances Cabaniss Roberts Collection: Series 7, Box 5, Item 8

Rowe Home, Matthews, built circa 1830 - Limestone Co. - Tanner

Image 3 r07 05-00-008-0003 Contents Index About

Names:

Matthews-Rowe Home

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

photographs

Image 4 r07 05-00-008-0004 Contents Index

MATTHEWS-ROWE HOME 78 X 5 Las. Co. Site #6 trem of
SE Sec. 36, T3S, R4W; Rt. 1, Tanner
TARCOG HISTORICAL SURVEY PHOTOGRAPH RECORD County: Linestone Field Surveyors' Names: D. Thoras J. Hardrichte
I. Information on Photograph Date of Photograph:
II. Information on Site Place Number on Map (Blue Ink): #32 (Copied from number used in recording it on appropriate County Highway Map)
Historical Notes Number (Red Ink): (If there is a historical notes form filled in for this place, write it in the photograph number in the upper right-hand corner of this form in space provided). Location (Word Description): 2 and 3 arms, Section 36
Owner of Occupant: (Name, if known)
Address: TYPE of Structure: () House () Outbuilding () Commercial (where appropriate, () Barn () Industrial () Other, describe check one or more)
Apparent period of construction: () Federal cone 1830 per for Seconds of Seconds () Grock Revival () Mid-19th Century () Latter 19th Century () Early 20th Century Apparent period of Additions: () Federal
III. Remarks and Sketches if appropriate:
In life has post door - Ve bournat Chimney on end side with some received - rolling ar every poel ottic an good condition - Proving ar every poel ottic an good condition on record from with for light - pater of completion: It pares in windows - Form HS-2

Names:

Rowe Home

TARCOG Historical Survey

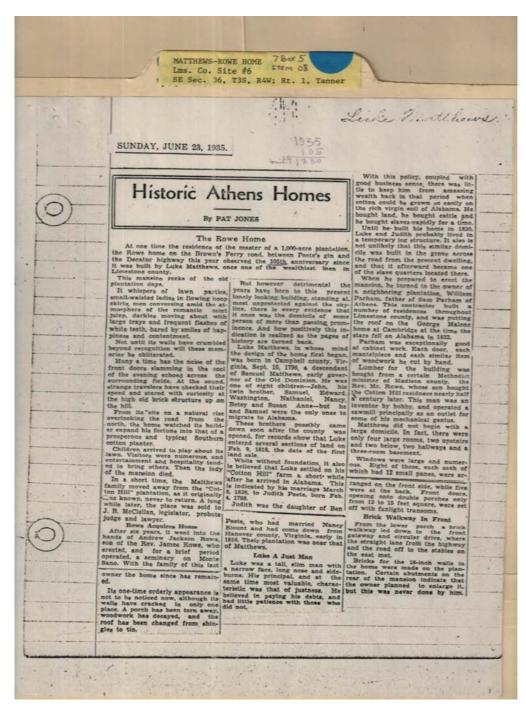

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

form

Image 5 r07_05-00-008-0005 Contents Index About

p. 1Names:

Matthews, Luke Matthews, Samuel McClellan, J. B.

Types:

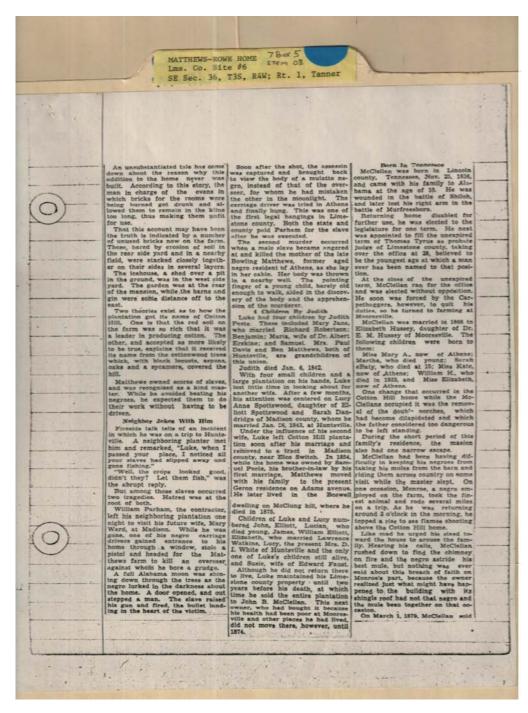

newspaper article

Dates:

June 23, 1935

Parham, Sam Parham, William Peete, Ben Peete, Judith Rowe Home Rowe, Andrew Jackson Rowe, James, Rev.

Image 6 r07_05-00-008-0006 Contents Index About

p. 2 Names:

, Monroe (slave)
Dandridge, Sarah
Erskine, Albert, Dr.
Hussey, E. M., Dr.
Hussey, Elizabeth
Matthews, Benjamin
Matthews, Bowling
Matthews, Elizabeth
Matthews, Elliott
Matthews, James
Matthews, John

Matthews, Judith
Peete
Matthews, Lucian
Matthews, Luke
Matthews, Maria
Matthews, Mary Jane
Matthews, Samuel
Matthews, Susie
Matthews, William
Elliott

McClellan, Elizabeth,
Miss
McClellan, John B.
McClellan, Kate,
Miss
McClellan, Martha
McClellan, Mary A.,
Miss
McClellan, Sarah
McClellan, William
H.

Parham, William
Peete, Samuel
Prout, William
Robertson, Richard
Rowe Home
Spottswood, Elliott
Spottswood, Lucy
Anne
Tyrus, Thomas
Ward, Mary
White, D. I., Dr.

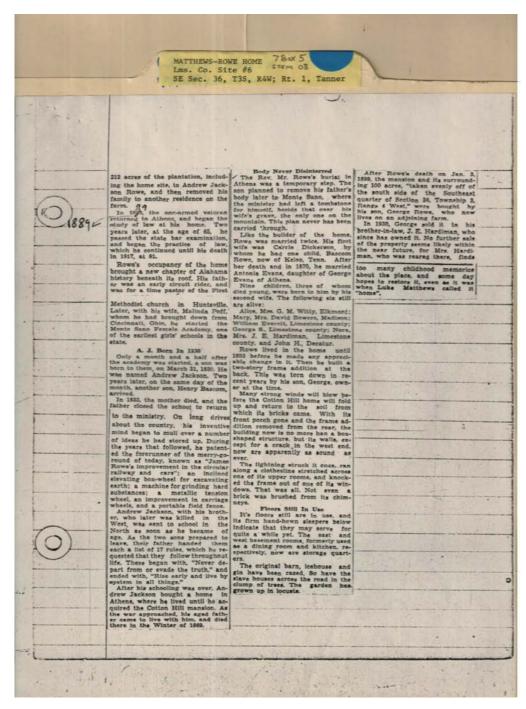

Types:

newspaper article

Dates:

June 23, 1935

Image 7 r07_05-00-008-0007 Contents Index About

p. 3 Names:

Bascom, Henry Bowers, David Dickerson, Carrie Evans, Antonia Evans, George

Types:

newspaper article

Dates:

June 23, 1935

Hardiman, J. E. Matthews, Luke McClellan, John B. Rowe, Alice Rowe, Bascom Rowe, George S. Rowe, James, Rev. Rowe, John H. Rowe, Mary Rowe, Nora Rowe, William Everett Witty, G. M.

MATTHEWS-ROWE HOME 780X 5 Lms. Co. Site #6 SE Sec. 36, T3S, R4W; Rt. 1, Tanner
TARCOG HISTORICAL SURVEY
Final Report Form
Make your answers as concise as possible. Number as appears on your county map
1. Name of site or structure Rome House Originally called
2. Location of site or structure (including township, range and section number, and which quadrant of section if known) Sact of Taumen Sec 36 Journalis 38 Raige 46 32 Mills M
3. Description Burel euro (830
4. Historical significance of site or structure if known Hz been owner by a number of promunest colorers of Lemeston Cs. Fant lights up & down stain when the land of arrived

Names:

Rowe Home - Cotton

Hill

TARCOG Historical Survey

Places:

Limestone Co., AL

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

form

Image 9 r07 05-00-008-0009 Contents Index

	MATTHEWS-ROWE F Lms. Co. Site f SE Sec. 36, T3S		nner	1
	NATIONAL REGISTER OF HIST INVENTORY - NOMINATION (Type all entries complete appli	ORIC PLACES	Alabama COUNTY Madison FOR NPS U	SE ONLY
	Matthews-Rowe Home
_	Matthews-Rowe Home	A THE REST THEFT
2	STREET AND NUMBER:
	Huntsville-Brown Ferry Ros	CONGRES	SIONAL DISTRICT.
	Route 1, Tanner	CODE COUNTY:		-
	Alabama	Limes	tone	CODE
3.	CLASSIFICATION	INTELESCO DI CO		ACCESSIBLE
	(Check One)	WNERSHIP	STATUS	TO THE PUBLIC
	Site Structure Private Object Both	Public Acquisition: In Process Being Considered	© Occupied ☐ Unoccupied ☐ Preservation work in progress	Yes: Restricted Unrestricted No
Ta .	☐ Educational ☐ Military ☐	Pork Private Residence Religious Scientific	☐ Transportation ☐ Other (Spec(fy)	Comments
	ORNER'S NAME: STREET AND NUMBER:	THE RESERVE	erica, including	E STATE OF THE PARTY OF
	CITY OR TOWN	SCHOOL MEET SHIP	Alabama	CODE
5	LOCATION OF LEGAL DESCRIPTION	- Lander	, and a second
	Deed Records, Limestone Co	ounty Court House
	Public Square
	Athens	STAT	Alabama	CODE
6.	REPRESENTATION IN EXISTING SURVEYS
	Preliminary TARCOG Survey	☐ Federal ☐ Sto	te (20 County [Local
	TARCOG Office, Central Bank of Alabama Building
	Public Square	ISTATE		cope

Names:

Matthews-Rowe Home

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

nomination form

Dates:

1830

National Register of Historic Places

Frances Cabaniss Roberts Collection: Series 7, Box 5, Item 8

Rowe Home, Matthews, built circa 1830 - Limestone Co. - Tanner

Image 10 r07 05-00-008-0010 Contents Index About

The house was built about 144 years ago by a wealthy plantation owner and is said to have been built about 1830. William Parkam, a contractor who built several homes in the Limestome County area, is credited with the building. Parkam was exceptional good at cabinet work and each door, mantelpiece, and item of woodwork is said to have been cut by hand. Lumber for the building was bought from a Madison County minister, Rev. Rowe, whose son bought this same residence nearly a half century later. The original house began with four large rooms, two upstairs and two below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanilght Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abutments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fanilight and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct for the construction.	CONDITION	Ems. Co. Site #6 SE Sec. 36, T3S, R4W; R
CONDITION Excellent Good Fair Deteriorated Ruins Unexposed Check One) Check One	CONDITION	(Che
CONDITION Excellent Good Feir Deteriorated Ruins Unexposed Check One) (Check One)	CONDITION
CONDITION Excellent Good Feir Deteriorated Ruins Unexposed Check One) (Check One)	CONDITION
CONDITION Excellent Good Feir Deteriorated Ruins Unexposed Check One) (Check One)	CONDITION
CONDITION Excellent Good Foir Deteriorated Ruins Unexposed (Check One) (Check One)			ck (One)
The house was built about 144 years ago by a wealthy plantation owner and is said to have been built about 1830. William Parkam, a contractor who built several homes in the Limestone County area, is credited with the building. Parkam was exceptional good at cabinet work and each door, mantelpiece, and item of woodwork is said to have been cut by hand. Lumber for the building was bought from a Madison County minister, Rev. Rowe, whose son bought this same residence nearly a half century later. The original house began with four large rooms, two upstairs and two below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanlight Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abutments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fanlight and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct			teriorated Ruins Unexposed
The house was built about 144 years ago by a wealthy plantation owner and is said to have been built about 1830. William Parkam, a contractor who built several homes in the Limestone County area, is credited with the building. Parkam was exceptional good at cabinet work and each door, mantelpiece, and item of woodwork is said to have been cut by hand. Lumber for the building was bought from a Madison County minister, Rev. Rowe, whose son bought this same residence nearly a half century later. The original house began with four large rooms, two upstairs and two below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanlight Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abutments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fanlight and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	DESCRIBE THE PE	The second secon
owner and is said to have been built about 1830. William Parkam, a contractor who built several homes in the Limestone County area, is credited with the building. Parkam was exceptional good at cabinet work and each door, mantelpiece, and item of wood- work is said to have been cut by hand. Lumber for the building was bought from a Madison County minister, Rev. Rowe, whose son bought this same residence nearly a half century later. The original house began with four large rooms, two upstairs and two below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanlight Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abut- ments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on archi- tectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fan- light and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct			-
owner and is said to have been built about 1830. William Parkam, a contractor who built several homes in the Limestone County area, is credited with the building. Parkam was exceptional good at cabinet work and each door, mantelpiece, and item of wood- work is said to have been cut by hand. Lumber for the building was bought from a Madison County minister, Rev. Rowe, whose son bought this same residence nearly a half century later. The original house began with four large rooms, two upstairs and two below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanlight Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abut- ments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on archi- tectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fan- light and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct
Parkam, a contractor who built several homes in the Limestone County area, is credited with the building. Parkam was exceptional good at cabinet work and each door, mantelpiece, and item of wood- work is said to have been cut by hand. Lumber for the building was bought from a Madison County minister, Rev. Rowe, whose son bought this same residence nearly a half century later. The original house began with four large rooms, two upstairs and two below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanlight Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abut- ments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on archi- tectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fan- light and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct
County area, is credited with the building. Parkam was exceptional good at cabinet work and each door, mantelpiece, and item of woodwork is said to have been cut by hand. Lumber for the building was bought from a Madison County minister, Rev. Rowe, whose son bought this same residence nearly a half century later. The original house began with four large rooms, two upstairs and two below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanlight Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abutments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fanlight and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	Par	kam, a contractor who built seve	ral homes in the Limestone work is said to have been cut by hand. Lumber for the building was bought from a Madison County minister, Rev. Rowe, whose son bought this same residence nearly a half century later. The original house began with four large rooms, two upstairs and two below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanlight Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abutments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fanlight and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	Cou	nty area, is credited with the bu	ilding. Parkam was exceptionall was bought from a Madison County minister, Rev. Rowe, whose son bought this same residence nearly a half century later. The original house began with four large rooms, two upstairs and two below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanlight eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abutments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fanlight and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct original house began with four large rooms, two upstairs and two below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had famlight Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abutments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with famlight and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry famlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	20,000 below, two wide hallways and a three-room basement. Windows were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanlight Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abut- ments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on archi- tectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fan- light and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct were large, each sash of which had twelve small panes, and arranged on the front side while five were at the back. Front doors on both floors had fanlight Brick for the eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abutments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with famlight and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	ori	ginal house began with four large	-rooms, two upstairs and two doors on both floors had fanlight eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abutments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fan- light and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	wer	e large, each sash of which had to	welve small panes, and eighteen-inch walls were made on the plantation. Certain abutments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fanlight and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct			e were at the back. Front ments on the rear of the mansion indicate that the owner planned to enlarge it, but this was never done by him. Based on architectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fanlight and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	eigl	nteen-inch walls were made on the	plantation. Certain abuttectual research, the house originally had a two-story front porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fan-light and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	men	ts on the rear of the mansion ind	icate that the owner planned porch about fourteen feet high, based on pilaster arrangement. Wall paint at first floor location, second floor door with fan- light and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	to	cual research, the house original	ly had a two-story front light and evidence of porch framing in brick. The entry fanlight is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	por	ch about fourteen feet high, based	d on pilaster arrangement.
is unusual for both the area and the period. The dormers on the roof are too wide and awkwardly proportioned. Dormers are also unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct unusual for this area and period. The dormers are not positioned in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct	is	musual for both the area and the	period. The dormers on the in relation to the sashes below as would be normal. With these exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct exceptions (additions) aside, the date of 1830 appears correct for the construction.	exce	eptions (additions) aside, the dat
AND DESCRIPTION OF THE PARTY OF	for	the construction.
AND AND STREET OF THE PARTY OF	G -
Andreas and the state of the st
The state of the s	The second second
Day Larry, Liveline Start Start Start	The second
The state of the s
arrest - State -	The second
	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1

Names:

Matthews-Rowe Home

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

nomination form

Parham, William Rowe, James, Rev.

r07 05-00-008-0011 Image 11 Contents Index

ENIOU (Check One or More as Appropriate) Pre-Columbian 16th Century 19th	PERIOD (Check One or More as Appropriate) Pre-Columbian 16th Century 18th Century 20th Century 15th Century 17th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century 19th Century	PERNOO (Check One or More as Appropriate) 16th Century 18th Century 20th Century 15th Century 15th Century 15th Century 15th Century 17th Century 19th	PERIOD (Check One or More as Appropriate) 16th Century 18th Century 20th Century 15th Century 15th Century 17th Century 19th	PERNOO (Check One or More as Appropriate) 16th Century 18th Century 20th Century 15th Century 15th Century 17th Century 19th	PERIOD (Check One or More as Appropriate) Pre-Columbian 16th Century 18th Century 20th Century 15th Century 17th Century 19th Century 19th Century Pre-Columbian 18th Century 19th Century 19th Century Pre-Columbian 18th Century 19th Century 19th Century Pre-Columbian 18th Century 19th Ce
Pre-Columbian 15th Century 17th Century 19th Century 19t	Pre-Columbian 15th Century 15th Century 17th Century 17t	Pre-Columbian 15th Century 15t	Pre-Columbian 15th Century 17th Century 19th Century 19t	15th Century 15th	Pre-Columbian 15th Century 17th Century 17t
ABEAS OF SIGNIFICANCE (Check One or More as Appropriate) Aberiginal Education Prehistoric Content of Signification Conte	Aberiginal Education Pelistical Other (Specify)	Aberiginal Education Prehistoric Education Prehistoric Education E	Aberiginal Education Pelitical Urban Planning Prehistoric Engineering Religion/Phi. Other (Specity)	Aberiginal Education Pelitical Urban Planning Prehistoric Engineering Religion/Phi. Other (Specity)	Aberiginal Education Political Urbon Planning Political Urbon Planning Prehistoric Engineering Industry
Aberiginal Education Religion/Phi. Other (Specify)	Aberigined Education Political Other (Specity)	Aberigined Education Political Other (Specity)	Aberigined Education Political Other (Specity)	Aberiginal Education Political Other (Specity)	Aberigined Education Religion/Phi. Other (Specity)
Prehistoric Engineering Religion/Phi. Other (Specity)	Prehistoric Engineering Religion/Phi. Other (Specify)	Prehistoric Engineering Religion/Phi. Other (Specify)	Prehistoric Engineering Religion/Phi. Other (Specify) Mistoric Industry Iosophy Apriculture Invention Science Architecture Lendscape SocienChuman. Commerce Liberature Isosophy Architecture SocienChuman. Commerce Liberature Iterian Commerce Liberature Iterian Commerce Music Transportation STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Feete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Prehistoric Engineering Religion/Phi. Other (Specify) Historic Industry Iosophy Agriculture Invention Science Architecture Lendscape Sociol/Human- Commerce Literature Iterian Commerce Literature Iterian Conservation Music Transportation STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Prehistoric Engineering Religion/Phi. Other (Specify)
Apriculture Invention Science Architecture Lendscope Sculpture Invention Science Architecture Lendscope Sculpture Invention Science Architecture Social/Human-iterial Interester Inte	Agriculture Invention Science Sculpture Invention Science Architecture Landacape Social/Human. Invention Social/Human. Invention Social/Human. Invention Transportation Transportati	Agriculture Invention Science Sculpture Architecture Lendscape Sculpture Science Sculpture Architecture Lendscape Social/Human. Italian Ital	Agricolhure Invention Science	Agriculture Invention Science	Architecture Industry Insupply Science Architecture Lendscape Sculpture Invention Science Architecture Lendscape Sculpture Sociel/Human-internal Commerce Literature Industry Theater Transportation Transportat
Architecture Londscape Scolpture Scolpture Architecture Londscape Scolpture Socience Scolpture Socience Scolpture Socience Communications Mulitary Theoret Iterian I	Architecture Landscape Sculpture Socience Sculpture Landscape Socience Soc	Architecture Londscape Sculpture Sculpture Social/Human.	Architecture Londscape Seculpture Social/Human- Commerce Linesture Social/Human- Commerce Linesture Invention Italian Commerce Commerce Linesture Italian Commerce Commerce Linesture Italian Commerce Commerce Theater Conservation Music Transportation STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Architecture Londscape Socience Socience Architecture Londscape Socience Socience Socience Commerce Linesture Socience Socience Commerce Linesture Iterion	Architecture Landscape Science Sculpture Landscape Social/Human.
Art Architecture Societ/Human. Commerce Liberature Societ/Human. Commerce Liberature Itarian Communications Military Theater Commerce Minitary Theater Commerce Minitary Transportation STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Architecture Landscape Sculpture	Art Architecture Social/Human.	Art Architecture Social/Human.	Art Architecture Social/Human.	Art Architecture Social/Human- Commerce Liberature Social/Human- Commerce Liberature Ingrien Commerce Communications Military Theater Conservation Music Transportation STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George
Architecture Social/Human- Commerce Librarhyre Ibraine Commerce Military Theorer Conservation Music Transportation STATEMENT OF BIGNIFICANCE Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Archivecture Sociol/Human- Commerce Liberature Iterian Theoret Transportation Music Transportation STATEMENT OF BIGNIFICANCE Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Art Archivecture Sociol/Human- Commerce Liberature Iderican Commerce Liberature Iderican Commerce Liberature Iderican Commerce Mullivary Theorete Commerce Transportation STATEMENT OF BIGNIFICANCE Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Archimeture Social/Human- iterian Iterian Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Art Commerce Liberature Sociol/Human-	Art Commerce Literature Seciol/Human. Iderica
Communications Military Theoret Communications Military Theoret Transportation Music Transportation	Communications Military Theater	Communications Military Theater	Communications Military Theorer	Communications Military Theoret Communications Military Theoret Conservation Music Transportation STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Communications Military Theater
Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George
Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George
Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George	Luke Matthews, a large plantation owner, is credited with building the house about 1830. he named it "Cotton Hill," maybe because cotton grew so well in this area or perhaps for the cottonwood trees that grew there. Luke Matthews was born in Campbell County, Virginia, September 10, 1796, a descendent of Samuel Matthews, early governor of the Old Dominion. Luke Matthews married Judith Peete, born February 4, 1796, the daughter of Ben Peete, who had married Nancy Blount nad had come down from Hanover County, Virginia early in 1816. Their plantation was near Matthews'. Judith died in 1842, and Luke married Lucy Spottswood of Madison County, Alabama, and removed to Madison County. Matthews retained the property until two years before his death, at which time the estate was sold to John B. McClellan, who served one term in the state legislature and served as probate judge of Limestone County. In 1866 McClellan married Elizabeth Hussey of Mooresville. On March 1, 1879 McClellan sold 212 acres of the plantation, including the homesight to Andrew Jackson Rowe. After Rowe's death on January 3, 1899, the mansion and 100 acres were bought by his son, George
The state of the s	THE RESERVE AND ADDRESS OF THE PARTY OF THE	The same in the same of the sa	The same is the party of the pa	the said the party of the land	THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE
		The Course break on the said of the Course o	The last a beginning the said of the last and the last an	to a said a) the pair on it hunts to res total	The same of the sa
THE RESERVE THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN 2 IS NOT THE OWNER.		The second secon
THE RESIDENCE OF THE PARTY OF T
AND THE RESIDENCE OF STREET STREET, ST
THE RESIDENCE OF THE PARTY OF T		The state of the s		The second section is a second section of the second section of the second section is a second section of the section of th

Hardiman

Names:

Blount, Nancy Hardeman, J. E. Hussey, Elizabeth

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

nomination form

Matthews, Luke Matthews, Samuel, Gov.

McClellan, John B. Peete, Ben Peete, Judith

Rowe, Andrew Jackson Rowe, George S.

Image 12 r07_05-00-008-0012 Contents Index About

	1	MATTHEWS-ROWE Lms. Co. Site SE Sec. 36, T3		anner	- 100
9. MAJOS	BIBLIOGRAPHICAL R	FFERENCES
	Deed Recor Athen Jones, Pat	ds, Probate Offic s, Alabama. , "Historic Ather 23, 1935.	ns Homes," Hunts		Sunday,
a GEOG	RAPHICAL DATA	AND THE PARTY OF	THE PROPERTY.	703/00/03
	LATITUDE AND I ONGITE		DEFINING THE	ENTER POINT OF	A PAOPERTY	-
CORNER	_		R OF L		NES NO TUDE
NW NE SE			Degrees Minutes S	econds Degrees i	Minutes Seconds
	MATE ACHEAGE OF NON				-	5
STATE:	L STATES AND COUNTIES	The state of the s	COUNTY	NTY BOUNDARIES		m
STATE	See September 11	-			CODE	m
		cone	COUNTY		CODE	-
STATE	The Particular No.	3002	COUNTY	by Marine	CODE	Z
STATE		CODE	COUNTY	Total A	CODE	-
	PREPARED BY	Con- Con-		The Paris of the P		R _
100000000000000000000000000000000000000	NO TITLE:				WE-	0
ORGANI	EATION	t merchine	Su surem to be	DATE	6522	-
STREET	AND NUMBER	the state of the	A SHARE THE REAL PROPERTY.			0
CITY OR	TOWN:		STATE	THE COLUMN TWO	CODE	Z
STATE	LIAISON OFFICER CE	PTIEICATION	NATIONAL D	EGISTER VERIFIC		~
As the tional 89-665 in the evaluate forth b	designated State Liaiso Historic Preservation Ac), I hereby nominate this National Register and ce ted according to the crit y the National Park Serv of significance of this no ational State	n Officer for the Na- t of 1966 (Public Law property for inclusion rtify that it has been ria and procedures set ace. The recommended mination in:	I hereby certify that Notional Register. Director, Office of Arct Date ATTEST:	this property is in	cluded in the
Title	Title

Names:

Jones, Pat

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

nomination form

r07 05-00-008-0013 Contents Image 13

Index

About

// Lm	THEMS-ROWE HOME 7 8 x 5 trem of trem of Sec. 36, T35, R4W; Rt.	3
NATIONAL REGIST INVENTORY -	PARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR IL PARK SERVICE ER OF HISTORIC PLACES NOMINATION FORM complete applicable sections)	Alaba m COUNTY Madise FOR NPS	USE ONLY	9
I. NAME COMMON: AND/OR HISTORIC: MOHHAUS - I ELOCATION STREET AND NUMBER: LAUTE OF TORN: RHOLL TO YOUR STREET OF TORN: STATE STATE	Brown Ferry	Rd.
3. CLASSIFICATION CATEGORY (Chick One) District Site Structure Structure 2. Structure 2. Structure 2. Structure 2. Structure 2. Structure 3. Structure 3. Structure 3. Structure 4. Structure 4. Structure 4. Structure 5. Structure 5. Structure 6. Stru	OWNERSHIP White Public Acquisitions	STATUS B'Occupied	ACCESSIBLE TO THE PUBLIC Yes:
PRESENT USE (Chack One or More as Agricultural Governm Commercial Industria Betweetienel Milliagy Entertainment Museum 4 OWNER OF PROPERTY	Appropriate) ant Perk Private Residence	d Unoccupied Preservation wa in progress Transportation Other (Specity)	Unrestricted No
ORNER'S NAME: STREET AND MUNIBER: CITY OR TORN: S. LOCATION OF LEGAL DESCRIPT!	ON	olobama	CODE	SYAVE
STREET AND NUMBER	s, Limoston Cour	The little of	CODE	- AAMOGS
6. REPRESENTATION IN EXISTING S TITLE OF SURVEY. DATE OF SURVEY. DEPOSITION FOR SURVEY RECORD THE COLOR STREET AND NUMBER: PROPERTY IC SQUA	TARCOG Sur Gradual Ban Contral Ban	Very Browny	There	FOR NES USE ONLY
Ituntsulle	STA C		CODE	UY YJ

Names:

Matthews-Rowe Home

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

nomination form

Frances Cabaniss Roberts Collection: Series 7, Box 5, Item 8 Rowe Home, Matthews, built circa 1830 - Limestone Co. - Tanner Image 14 r07 05-00-008-0014 Contents Index About

MATTHEWS-ROW Lms. Co. Sit SE Sec. 36,	E HOME 78 ox 5 e #6 trem 08 T3S, R4W; Rt. 1, Tanner	1
	A THE PARTY OF THE
9. MAJOR BIBLIOGRAPHICAL REFERENCES	a Linear Cont	Co Hand Atta	Hickory
Dead Records France	1/200	allo Transa
Dead Records Prible off. Jones, Pat, "Historic abe sunday, June	2371935
1000 Towns with Classic Charles of the Contract of the Contract o
10. GEOGRAPHICAL DATA	LATITUDE AND LONGITUE
DEFINING A RECTANGLE LOCATING THE PROPERTY	DEFINING THE CENTER POIN	N ACRES
CORNER LATITUDE LONGITUDE Degrees Minutes Seconds Degrees Minutes Seconds	LATITUDE	LONGITUDE rees Minutes Seconds
Nx 1/34 . 43. 44. M8. 24. 14.		***
SE
APPROXIMATE ACREAGE OF NOMINATED PROPERTY:	THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO	A STATE OF THE STA
STATES CODE	COUNTY	3003	m
STATE: COOK	COUNTY	500E
STATE: CODE.	COUNTY:	CODE	z
STATE: COOK	COUNTY	CODE	5 7
The same of the sa	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	20 MILES	20
1). FORM PREPARED BY	of Islandson	JE ALTERNATION OF THE PARTY OF	0
ORGANIZATION	1	ATE	-
STREET AND NUMBER:	A PLUSTER DE LA	7721	- 0
CITY OR TOWN:	STATE	cone	Z
12. STATE LIAISON OFFICER CERTIFICATION	NATIONAL REGISTER V	ERIFICATION	-
HISTORY OF THE PARTY OF	Settle Andrews	p trough aby
As the designated State Liaison Officer for the Na- tional Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (Public Law	I hereby certify that this proper	ty is included in the	1
89-665). I bereby nominate this property for inclusion in the National Register and certify that it has been	National Register.
evaluated according to the criteria and procedures set	Charles of Strain	or all root of	1 forth by the National Park Service. The recommended level of significance of this nomination is:	Chief, Office of Archeology and	Haroric Preservation	1
National State Local	Tata	The state of	He.
Name	Date		14 11
THE REAL PROPERTY AND ADDRESS OF THE PARTY AND	trace of		12
Title	Keeper of The Natio	nal Register	TE.
The Reservoir of the Park No. of	Date	A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR	17374

Names:

Jones, Pat

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

nomination form

Frances Cabaniss Roberts Collection: Series 7, Box 5, Item 8

Rowe Home, Matthews, built circa 1830 - Limestone Co. - Tanner

Image 15 r07 05-00-008-0015 Contents Index About

MAITHEMS-ROWE HOME 78x5 Lms. Co. Site #6 trem o3
SE Sec. 36, T3S, R4W; Rt. 1, Tanner
TARCOG
HISTORICAL RESEARCH COORDINATOR
VERIFIED DOCUMENTATION FORM Coordinator's Name: Q. Landlen
Historical Notes Number: #32 - 51 te to 6
Photograph Record Number:
(Blue Ink)
1. Name: Luke Matthemar Wedrew Jackson Rome House
1
2. Location: Browns Ferry Rd. Belween Poster gen and the Docatus Haling East in Talmer
Sec. 36 Town 35 - Range 460 36 Mills
el Valence 31.
3. Classification:
Built by hule matters Cerca 1830 a wealth
Denter least to 4 fer family mired away.
Parts when family brief to I thath
1816 from Harrison Co. 722 math is med a ded that live on the aboutation did not sall
it until 1874 Hura tood To John B. Mª Clallan a legestator, probate judge and lawyer of
4. Owner of Property:
oner or troperty:
5. Location of Legal Description: Frank Range Sementon Co
Court House, atlan, als
Form HS-3
p. 1

Names:

Matthews, Luke Matthews-Rowe Home McClellan, John B. Rowe, Andrew Jackson TARCOG Historical Survey

Places:

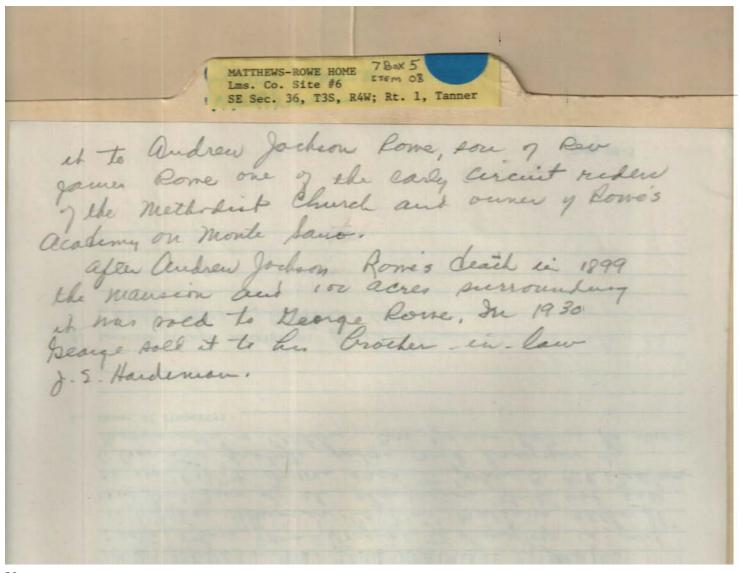

Limestone Co., AL

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

form

Frances Cabaniss Roberts Collection: Series 7, Box 5, Item 8
Rowe Home, Matthews, built circa 1830 - Limestone Co. - Tanner
Image 16 r07 05-00-008-0016 Contents Index About

Names:

Hardeman, J. E.

Rowe, Andrew Jackson

Rowe, George Rowe, James, Rev.

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

form

Frances Cabaniss Roberts Collection: Series 7, Box 5, Item 8 Rowe Home, Matthews, built circa 1830 - Limestone Co. - Tanner Image 17 r07 05-00-008-0017 Contents Index About

MATTHEWS-ROWE HOME 78 x 5 Las. Co. Site #6 SE Sec. 36, T3S, R4W; Rt. 1, Tanner
6. Representation in Existing Surveys: Phelominary, TARCOG
7. Description: Had a 2 stry front pack about 14 feet brack on phlaster arrangement: Well painted at given flow perch election, Secont flow less with ten light an evidence posses from the era t period. Time. Darmer respector under and authority preportioned world be good to see if there are arranged or that Darmers are unusual to other area t period. Darmers are not positioned to pasher below as mild be usual. Hery are Cornect with 20th Century appeared of himself 30 years. Windows of Laure large for the period - 24 lights Plan for article trees muiet 1830. appears cornect without stelling interior trick Top parters are 12 ores 8 8. Historical Significance Bottoms are 12 ores 8
8. Specific Dates: Luke Matthews Built home in 1830 - 1874 Longst by John M. a Callane a Mous 1880 Robb to Augren Jackets Rose, bought by an Beorge Pone 1849 - Sald to 9.5 Hardinger, Broke, w. Jaw p Dange Pone no 1930.
Form HS-3 p. 2

Names:

Hardiman, J. E. Matthews, Luke

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

form

Matthews-Rowe Home

McClellan, John B.

TARCOG Historical Survey Frances Cabaniss Roberts Collection: Series 7, Box 5, Item 8 Rowe Home, Matthews, built circa 1830 - Limestone Co. - Tanner Image 18 r07 05-00-008-0018 Contents Index About

MATTHEWS-ROWE HOME 78 x 5 Lms. Co. Site #6 SE Sec. 36, T3S, R4W; Rt. 1, Tanner
B. Historical Significance: She house fourt an 1930. Demand in the charactery of the years Men with the charactery of the years Men with the charactery of the years Men with the phone through that it is a function. B. Statement of Significance: We tarried by D. Statement of Significance: We tarried by A that the partie builty plantation, has at three three three builty plantation, has at the present of a number of plantation. A three
Form HS-3 p. 3

N	a	m	es

Matthews, Luke

Matthews-Rowe Home McClellan, J. B.

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

form

Dates:

1830

	MATTHEMS-ROWE HOME 78 at 5 Lms. Co. Site #6 SE Sec. 36, T3S, R4W; Rt. 1, Tanner
	The sect of 100, 1111, Act 1, Addition
-
9. Spe	Deed Pounds brusestone Court Louise Abou ale
	June 23, 1935
-
-
_
-
_
-
10. Ver	ified Geographical Data:
_
Date of	Completion:
	Form HS-3
	p. 4

N	am	es	٠

Jones, Pat

Places:

Tanner, Limestone Co., AL

Types:

form

Dates:

1935

Contents Index About

Table of Contents

Image 1 (r07_05-00-008-0001)	Image 7 (r07_05-00-008-0007)	Image 13 (r07_05-00-008-0013)	Image 19 (r07_05-00-008-0019)
Image 2 (r07_05-00-008-0002)	Image 8 (r07_05-00-008-0008)	Image 14 (r07_05-00-008-0014)	Table of Contents
Image 3 (r07_05-00-008-0003)	Image 9 (r07_05-00-008-0009)	Image 15 (r07_05-00-008-0015)	Name & Place Index
Image 4 (r07_05-00-008-0004)	Image 10 (r07_05-00-008-0010)	Image 16 (r07_05-00-008-0016)	About the Collection
Image 5 (r07_05-00-008-0005)	Image 11 (r07_05-00-008-0011)	Image 17 (r07_05-00-008-0017)
Image 6 (r07_05-00-008-0006)	Image 12 (r07_05-00-008-0012)	Image 18 (r07_05-00-008-0018)

Contents Index About

Name & Place Index

, Monroe (slave) 6	McClellan, Kate, Miss 6
Bascom, Henry 7	McClellan, Martha 6
Blount, Nancy 11	McClellan, Mary A., Miss 6
Bowers, David 7	McClellan, Sarah 6
Dandridge, Sarah 6	McClellan, William H. 6
Dickerson, Carrie 7	National Register of Historic Places 9
Erskine, Albert, Dr. 6	Parham, Sam 5
Evans, Antonia 7	Parham, William 5 , 6 , 10
Evans, George 7	Peete, Ben 5 , 11
Hardeman, J. E. 11 , 16	Peete, Judith 5 , 11
Hardiman, J. E. 7 , 17	Peete, Samuel 6
Hussey, E. M., Dr. 6	Prout, William 6
Hussey, Elizabeth 6 , 11	Robertson, Richard 6
Jones, Pat 12 , 14 , 19	Rowe Home - Cotton Hill 8
Limestone Co., AL 8 , 15	Rowe Home 4 , 5 , 6
Matthews, Benjamin 6	Rowe, Alice 7
Matthews, Bowling 6	Rowe, Andrew Jackson 5 , 11 , 15 , 16
Matthews, Elizabeth 6	Rowe, Bascom 7
Matthews, Elliott 6	Rowe, George S. 7 , 11
Matthews, James 6	Rowe, George 16
Matthews, John 6	Rowe, James, Rev. 5 , 7 , 10 , 16
Matthews, Judith Peete 6	Rowe, John H. 7
Matthews, Lucian 6	Rowe, Mary 7
Matthews, Luke 5 , 6 , 7 , 11 , 15 , 17 , 18	Rowe, Nora 7
Matthews, Maria 6	Rowe, William Everett 7
Matthews, Mary Jane 6	Spottswood, Elliott 6
Matthews, Samuel, Gov. 11	Spottswood, Lucy Anne 6
Matthews, Samuel 5 , 6	Tanner, Limestone Co., AL 1 , 2 , 3 , 4 , 8 , 9 , 10 , 11 , 12 ,
Matthews, Susie 6	13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19
Matthews, William Elliott 6	TARCOG Historical Survey 4, 8, 15, 17
Matthews-Rowe Home 1 , 2 , 3 , 9 , 10 , 13 , 15 , 17 , 18	Tyrus, Thomas 6
McClellan, Elizabeth, Miss 6	Ward, Mary 6
McClellan, J. B. 5 , 18	White, D. I., Dr. 6
McClellan, John B. 6 , 7 , 11 , 15 , 17	Witty, G. M. 7

Frances Cabaniss Roberts Collection

Preferred Citation: Frances Cabaniss Roberts Collection, Archives and Special Collections, M. Louis Salmon Library, University of Alabama in Huntsville, Huntsville, AL.

Collection Scope and Content: The Collection of 114 Linear ft. includes a total of 156 Archival Boxes. The Frances Cabaniss Roberts collection covers the historical records of the Cabaniss Roberts family. This collection contains extensive correspondence records of the Cabaniss Roberts family circa 1830 to 1930.

Archives/Special Collections Access Restrictions: None

Conditions Governing Use: This material may be protected under U. S. Copyright Law (Title 17, U.S. Code) which governs the making of photocopies or reproductions of copyrighted materials. You may use the digitized material for private study, scholarship, or research. Though the University of Alabama in Huntsville Archives and Special Collections has physical ownership of the material in its collections, in some cases we may not own the copyright to the material. It is the patron's obligation to determine and satisfy copyright restrictions when publishing or otherwise distributing materials found in our collections.

Provenance: Gift of Johanna Shields on October 28, 2006.

The UAH Archives and Special Collections M. Louis Salmon Library