DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE
Two story brick mansion with one story wings on each side. Solid masonry construction. Entrance is two story portico, its cable roof supported by four large columns of brick, Doric, stuccoed. Main house has cable roof; wings have flat roofs. Six interior chimneys are visible from the approach drive. Five windows on the second floor are arranged regularly. All windows are original with six panes over six. Most of the window glass is original. Double entrance doors are of single panel Greek Revival styling as is the woodwork throughout the house. Door framing has fluted pilasters and rosetted corner blocks. Flooring is original wide, quarter-sawn pine. Staircase is delicately proportioned with decorated stalrends, simple handrail and newel. Hallways upstairs and down are fifty feet long, fourteen feet wide, and have fourteen foot ceilings. Twin-parlors occupy one side of the downstairs hall. These are connected by sliding doors into one enormous room when desired. Each of the one-story wings was apparently intended as a bedroom. Two more rooms twentyfive feet square make up the general floorplan for the first floor. A modern kitchen and requisite baths have been added ca. 1920. Each upstairs bedroom is on a corner for air circulation before air conditioning. Parlor mantels are twins of marble. Other mantels in Greek Revival styling of wood. Much of the hardware is original and what has had to be replaced has been best quality reproductions. Period brick outbuildings survive. Oaklawn is an almost perfect example of Greek Revival architecture as adapted for a large residence. Almost no alterations have been made that are not in keeping with the styling of the original builder.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE
SEE INSTRUCTIONS The land on which Oaklawn stands was bought October 4, 1809 by John Williams Walker from the federal government. Walker was one of the earliest settlers in the area and one of the most prominent. He was lawyer, member of the legislature of the Alabama Territory, president of the Constitutional Convention, 1819, first US senator from Alabama. Three other distinguished names appear in the abstract - John F. Newman, William Fleming, and Lemuel Mead - before the land passed to John Robinson in 1844. He is credited with building the house. The children of John and Caroline(Otey) Robinson held the property throughout the nineteenth century. Robinson was a leading planter of his day and a politician as well. He served on the court of county commissioners of roads and revenue from 1836-1856. During the Civil War the house was requisitioned as officers quarters, and troops are said to have camped on the grounds. Again in the Spanish American War the house served the military, this time as a hospital. Subsequent owners were Mary L. Windham, Mrs. Alberta C. Taylor, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Newman. Then in 1919 Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Dilworth bought the place and restored it to its original and present glory. Most of the work involved removing latter-day partitions and a complete redecoration. Kitchen and baths were installed or redone. In 1941 Oaklawn was bought by Mr. and Mrs. Max Luther who continued to lavish care and concern on its upkeep. Mr. Luther's widow, now Mrs. Carl Lee, is the present owner. Oaklawn is one of the most perfect examples of Greek Revival architecture in existence. As such it typifies not only a style, but an era. And a people.
