FORT MITCHELL: AN ARCHAEOLOGICAL EXPLORATION

Figure 18. 1RU 102: The 1813 Magazine Feature. This shows the excavated magazine which was 12 feet to the side and four feet deep. The nature of the artifacts recovered from the gravel floor indicated that it was a part of the 1813 fort complex built by General Floyd. Preserved sections of the cribbing wall logs can be seen on the pedestal to the left (under the tree). Dark spots on the floor are postmolds where the support uprights had been placed.
