Dear Dr. Dornberger:

My warmest congratulations to your seventieth birthday. I wish you many healthy and happy returns.

Looking back 29 years ago when I joined your organization in Kummersdorf, it is hard to single out specific important decisions you made and accomplishments achieved; to me they all appear of outstanding nature.

I shall always be grateful for the friendship and experience gained in the development of rockets as a member of your team in those early years.

Best regards,

William A. Schulze

RESEARCH

Dear Mr. Schulze:

Since I will be away from my office and home for four weeks, may I ask your indulgence for sending this "summary acknowledgement" until I find time to send you a more personal note.

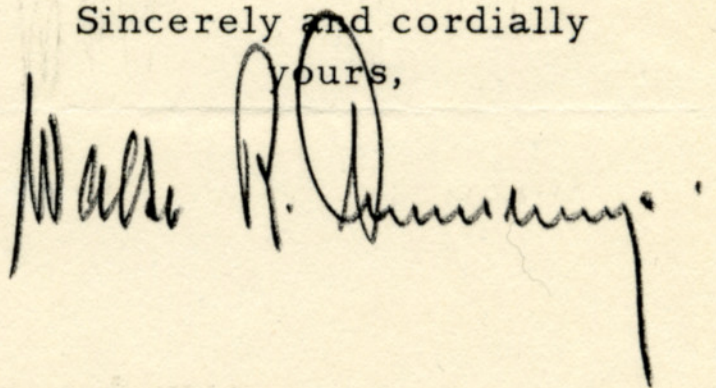

However, I want all of you to know how deeply grateful I am for your congratulations on my seventieth birthday. I appreciate your good wishes particularly as coming from so many whom I hold in special respect and affection.

The opinion of my accomplishments which you and others have expressed gives me great satisfaction that so many have understood and appreciated my efforts during the past thirty years.

It gives me real joy to think of your sympathetic insight into my ideas and goals that have guided my long life.

With best personal regards,

Sincerely and cordially
yours,
