Dear Charlie:

It was good to get a letter over your signature this morning and many thanks for the enclosures.

You old rascal, I think of you often. You, King Louie, Bob Bell and others got in my hair and I don't want to get you out.

Charlie, the Kentucky-Tennessee football game will be played in Lexington this year. I will be there and hope to see you and Nell there.

I have tickets for you and Nell and Bob Bell and Carolyn for the Tennessee-Georgia Tech game here in Knoxville, at which time the four of you are going to be our house guests. I am assuming, of course, that Col. Nickerson and his wife will have left the country by that time, and that Louis Cole and Sara will have gone back to New York by that time, although, of course, we would love to have them with you. We are going to let our hair down on that occasion. We are going to have some guests in and turn the floor over to you and Bob and the climax will be when Bob tells his matchless story entitled "Omaha".

I think of all of you often and never intend to lose contact with you.

My best to you and Nell always.

Sincerely yours,
